INVESTIGATIONS FOLLOW DETROIT FIRE DISASTER

Canada Extends Air Mail Service to Arctic Light Freight to Be Carried By Planes From Aklavik South

New Era in Mail and Business Transportation Will Be Opened in November When Machines in Federal Service Will Establish Service Between Edmonton and Mouth of Mackenzie River.

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—An air mail service from Edmonton to Aklavik, at the mouth of the Mackenzie River, will be started in November, according to postal officials here to-day. It is hoped to have the first air mail delivered within the Arctic Circle about six weeks from now.

The distance from Edmonton to Aklavik is about 2,000 miles, and hitherto winter mail between the two points by the old dog sled methods used to require about ten weeks on an average for a single trip. It is expected that once the air mail gets into operation the journey will be done in four days. A number of stations will be served en route, including Fort Murray, Chipewyan, Fitzgerald, Smith, Resolution, Providence, Simpson, Wrigley, Norman, Good Hope, Arctic, Red River and McPherson.

Henceforth only heavy express freight will be taken down the Mackenzie River aboard the old wood-burning river steamers. Lighter package freight will be carried by aeroplane, the departmental contract containing a provision enabling the company to engage in that traffic as a sideline.

A post office official to-day pointed out that the inevitable result of air services to remote and undeveloped districts of Canada has been a large increase in mail. One important factor in the new Edmonton-Aklavik service will be that of enabling the fur traders in that region to export their winter catches at the time the great sales at New York, St. Louis, Montreal and Hamburg.

BEGINNING OF NEW ERA
The air mail will bring the northern shore of the Canadian mainland within a week's travel from Edmonton. Men having interests in the fur trade and others contemplating the establishment of enterprises in that region may not now be deterred by any sense of remoteness since at any point along the route of the mail service they will be within hailing distance of civilization.

To celebrate the initiation of the service to Aklavik the post office department is issuing special cachets to be stamped on the envelopes.

NO FREAKS WANTED
A slight mail rate increase has been decided upon in order to preclude the sending by air mail of freak packages and to confine the freight to "only a genuine article of merchandise."

LOBBY FUND FOR U.S. SHIPYARDS TOTALED $143,000
Senate Committee Told of Outlay on Merchant Marine Act in 1928

Washington, Sept. 20.—United States shipbuilders spent $143,000 in seeking passage of the Jones-Whitely Merchant Marine Act of 1938, Clinton L. Barbo, president of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation, testified to-day before the Senate committee investigating propaganda.

Barbo said the following contributions were included in the lobby fund: Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation, $10,000; Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, $10,000; Sun Shipbuilding Company, $5,000; Worthington Pump and Machine Company, $2,500; General Electric Company, $5,000; Westinghouse Electric Company, $4,000.

SHIPBUILDER'S ACTIVITIES
Barbo's testimony shifted to a discussion of the Trans-Oceanic Company, a subsidiary of the American Brown Boveri Electric Corporation. He said the Trans-Oceanic had paid $143,000.

Sir Hedworth Meux, British Admiral, Dies

Stockbridge, Hampshire, Eng., Sept. 20.—Admiral of the Fleet Sir Hedworth Meux, noted British naval officer, died at Danebury, near here, to-day at the age of seventy-three. Sir Hedworth entered the navy in 1870, commanded a naval brigade during the siege of Ladysmith in the South African War and was commander-in-chief at Portsmouth, 1912-16. He retired in 1921.

John H. Considine of United Artists' Corporation Here "Scouting Around"

Douglas Fairbanks and Charlie Chaplin "Talkie" Productions to Be Released

Exterior scenes in future production of the United Artists Pictures Corporation may be photographed in the region of this city or some other part of British Columbia.

That is one of the reasons why John H. Considine, well-known in the Northwest as a vaudeville magnate in former years and now associate producer with Joe Schenk in United Artists, is in Victoria to-day.

"I am just scouting around," said Mr. Considine at the Empress Hotel this morning.

"There are only two places in Canada where we can get the Old English atmosphere for pictures and that is in the region of Victoria and Ottawa."

ARTIST SHOT TO DEATH AT HOME

Frank R. Whiteside Killed By Unknown Men in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—Frank Reed Whiteside, sixty-three, Philadelphia landscape artist, instructor and author, was shot to death under mysterious circumstances as he stood on the doorstep of his home last night.

Mr. Whiteside, who was treasurer of the Fellowship of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts and well known in Philadelphia art circles, had recently returned to his home from a seashore resort. His wife and daughter were expected home in a few days.

Mr. Whiteside, who was alone in the house, was summoned to the door by the insistent ringing of the door bell. He was slightly deaf and apparently had not heard the first ring. As he opened the door he was shot through the heart, dying almost instantly.

MEN SEEN RUNNING AWAY
No one saw the shot fired, but neighbors who heard the report said they had seen two or three men run down the street and disappear in the darkness a moment later.

Mr. Whiteside was born in Philadelphia.

Victoria Business Leader Escaped Massacre By Hiding Three Days In Foodless Attic

To escape death, he hid for three days under straw in an attic, without food or water, while crazed religious fanatics in the streets below massacred hundreds in the town who did not believe as they did.

Now he is Victoria's outstanding philanthropist and one of the city's business leaders.

The story of the remarkable career of this Victorian will be told to-morrow for the first time in a special full-page illustrated article in the Magazine Section of The Victoria Times.

APPEALS TO NATIONS TO AID MOVE FOR DISARMAMENT

SIR GEORGE FOSTER

FOSTER URGES EARLY MOVE FOR ARMS PARLEY

Canadian Delegate at League Session Supports Britain's Conference Plan

Geneva, Sept. 20.—Sir George Foster of Canada, speaking as "a voice from the North American Continent" supported the British proposal for the holding of a general disarmament conference in a vigorous speech before the League of Nations disarmament committee to-day.

The peoples of Canada and the United States, Senator Foster said, had revolted from the old idea of control by bureaucrats and dictators and insisted human life was of more importance than technicalities which stood in the way of limitation and disarmament.

A great change of sentiment had taken place in recent months among the 120,000,000 people in the United States.

VANCOUVER HAS RAIN AND WIND STORM

Vancouver, Sept. 20.—A westerly wind, blowing nearly forty miles an hour, across the Gulf of Georgia, accompanied by a downpour of rain, early to-day caught a boom of logs moored to a buoy in English Bay, broke it up and piled the big timbers in a wild disorder on the beach. It also threw two sail boats on Kitsilano beach. No damage was done in Burrard Inlet.

The rain, accounted one of the heaviest in several months, brought freshness to replace the depressing clouds and murkiness which had been gradually accumulating since the last downpour on September 1. By dawn, 78 inches had fallen.

Vancouver Boy Loses His Life In Automatic Elevator

Vancouver, Sept. 20.—Crushed between the car door of the automatic elevator and the elevator entrance of the sixth floor of the Whidmer Apartments on Thurlow Street, here, Leslie Dumbrell, aged thirteen, a newsboy, was killed at 8.15 this morning. The body was found wedged between the car and the elevator shaft by E. Berger, the janitor, who had rushed from the basement on hearing the elevator gears grinding.

The car, had moved only seven inches from the floor level.

The boy, who was the son of H. P. Dumbrell, Richards Street, had been delivering papers in the building.

Women Ask How Many Americans Buying Liquor

Provincial W.C.T.U. Wants Government to Publish Number of Liquor Permits Issued to Tourists and Amount They Spent in Liquor; Want Courses of Treatment for Chronic Alcoholics.

"Resolved that we request the Provincial Government in preparing the next Liquor Control report, to state clearly the number of permits taken out by Americans and the total amount of liquor purchased by these permit holders."

The foregoing was but one of several strong resolutions dealing with the liquor traffic passed by acclamation by the Women's Christian Temperance Union at the closing session of its forty-sixth annual convention, held in the Emmanuel Baptist Church last evening.

The provincial sting in the tail was contained in the following resolution, which is to be forwarded to the proper authorities:

"That we express our hearty appreciation of the action of the Provincial Government during the recent session in eliminating the car-marking of liquor profits for schools, mothers' pensions and social work, but feel that the Government should go further, and most earnestly request that the amount of liquor profits placed in the consolidated revenue fund shall not be the basis upon which grants to municipalities shall be determined, and that the law be so amended."

STATE TREATMENT OF ALCOHOLICS

State treatment of alcoholics coming before the courts was urged in the following resolution, also passed unanimously:

"That we urge the Government to establish courses of treatment for drug addicts and chronic alcoholics in connection with our prison system, and that all convicted before the"

RULING BARS NATURALIZED JAPANESE FROM DOMINION

Vancouver, Sept. 20.—Although a naturalized Canadian, Shintaro Ishibashi has been refused permission to return here by the Immigration Department and its decision was sustained to-day by the B.C. Supreme Court.

A resident of the Dominion twenty-five years, Ishibashi was naturalized here in 1908, and accompanied by his wife, Yuki, in November, 1928, left on a visit to Japan. Under the Canadian immigration law, the man should have returned within a year or should have applied for an extension of time, and if he had complied with those requirements the visit could have been prolonged for five years. Unfortunately for Ishibashi, he neglected to ask for an extension, so when he returned here after an absence of two years, he and his wife were not allowed to land and were ordered deported.

Ishibashi, through becoming naturalized, is in a more unfavorable position under the immigration law than if he had retained his Japanese citizenship and his Canadian domicile. It was conceded by counsel that if he had not been naturalized there would have been no obstacle to his return.

Nelson, B.C., Sept. 20.—Frank Degrey, provincial sanitary inspector, who arrived in Nelson last night, to-day is investigating conditions at the Doukhobor encampment outside Nelson city limits.

Thirty Mexicans Are Drowned

Mexico City, Sept. 20.—A special dispatch to La Prensa from Guadalajara to-day said thirty persons had been drowned near Puerto Vallarta, in the State of Jalisco, where a motorboat, in which they were on an outing, capsized in a severe storm. The victims were employees of the Montgomery Fruit Company of Ixtapal, Jalisco, who had been to Vallarta for their holidays and were returning home.

LINDBERGH'S FLIGHT

Miami, Fla., Sept. 20 (By Radio to the Associated Press).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Canaguri, Cuba, at 3.32 p.m., completing the second leg of his South American flight. His wife and one other passenger are accompanying him aboard his plane.

PREDICTS FINE WEATHER HERE; RAIN UP-ISLAND

That Victorians will continue to enjoy fine weather with fresh breezes from the sea and brilliant sunshine for several days, was the prediction made this morning by F. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Gonzales Observatory.

Mr. Denison sees no rain for Victoria, although Port Alberni and other up-island points, as well as Vancouver and other mainland points, had a heavy downpour during the night.

The windstorm in Victoria during the night blew at a velocity of thirty-four miles from the southwest, and to-day left Vancouver Island for the prairies, where exceptionally high winds will be the order for several days.

The first real wind Victoria has experienced since last spring. The barometer is rising all along the West Coast of Vancouver Island and the weather is fine there. Storms are reported to be raging out over the Pacific.

At 1.30 o'clock to-day a heavy downpour of rain commenced at Duncan and it was then promised to continue for several hours.

TOLL OF STORM IN PHILIPPINES TWENTY-SIX

Manila, Sept. 20.—Twenty-six persons perished in a typhoon which struck the islands of Catanduanes and Rapurahu, near the centre of the Philippines, Tuesday and Wednesday, according to dispatches received to-day by the Executive Bureau.

More than 7,000 houses were destroyed or damaged by wind and flood.

The storm, said the reports, apparently hit that section much harder than did the typhoon earlier in the month, which caused the deaths of some 200 persons in various parts of the nearby region of Luzon Island.

CROPS RUINED
Tuesday's storm also did much damage in Camarines Sur province, southwest of this city, in southern Luzon. Two deaths occurred in floods, reported Governor Felipe. Much destruction was done to crops and the provincial capital, Naga, was inundated. The Governor asked that relief be sent and seeds distributed to grow new crops.

FOREST FIRES ARE UNDER CONTROL

Vancouver, Sept. 20.—With the exception of a twenty-acre outbreak, which has been controlled, at Deerholme, Vancouver Island, no new fires have occurred in the Vancouver forestry district. It is announced, and existing fires have been checked.

Although a heavy rainfall was recorded in this region last night, there was practically no rain on the island.

TO SAIL FROM HERE TO-MORROW

HON. N. W. ROWELL, K.C.

Vancouver, Sept. 20.—Hon. N. W. Rowell, K.C., chairman of the Canadian delegation to the Institute of Pacific Relations, W. M. Birks of Montreal, past president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and a member of the delegation, together with a number of other prominent eastern Canadian visitors in the city were taken on a cruise of the harbor this afternoon by the Vancouver Harbor Commissioners in their yacht, the Fipsa.

Mr. Rowell will sail from Victoria to-morrow morning for China, where he will spend two weeks before proceeding to Kyoto, Japan, where the Institute is to meet.

ACCIDENT LEADS TO LOSS OF ARM

J. M. Pattullo of Vancouver, Cousin of Liberal Leader, Suffers Amputation

Vancouver, Sept. 20.—Gangrene, following an injury to his thumb suffered in a motor accident on Labor Day, has necessitated aputation of the right arm of J. M. Pattullo, managing director of Cardina Court, Nelson Street of this city. Mr. Pattullo is a cousin of T. D. Pattullo, Provincial Liberal leader.

The operation was performed at Everett, Wash., where Mr. Pattullo, his wife and daughter have been convalescing from the injuries received in the accident on the Pacific Highway near Marysville. Mrs. Pattullo, with a broken wrist, is progressing well, and Miss Pattullo is quite recovered from minor cuts sustained in the crash.

Two Men Lose Lives When Gasoline Tank Blows Up as They Work

Winnipeg, Sept. 20.—Explosion of a gasoline tank in a downtown garage here to-day claimed two lives. Fire spreading almost instantly through a building on Portage Avenue East, one block from Winnipeg's main intersection, wrecked the structure and delayed recovery of the bodies. The two who lost their lives were Frank Martin, thirty, and Richard Hughes, twenty-nine, both of Winnipeg.

The cause of the blast has not been established. It is known the men were installing a gasoline pump at the garage of the K. & M. Motors. It is thought a spark from an electric torch may have come in contact with a loose connection in the pump being installed.

KILLED INSTANTLY
Hughes was killed instantly by the explosion, which shattered the front section of the building.

Martin was knocked unconscious and was found in the blazing structure by passersby attracted by the explosion. He was hurried to a hospital, where he died in a short time.

A survey of the damage caused by the explosion placed the loss at less than $15,000.

HIGH GRADING OF GRAIN CROP BRINGS GAINS TO MANITOBA

Winnipeg, Sept. 20.—The year 1929 will be recorded in Manitoba farming history as a record harvest season. Favorable harvesting conditions have largely offset losses sustained by farmers due to the season's light grain yield, the Provincial Department of Agriculture states.

Already threshing is more than ninety per cent completed. Absence of rust, aided by good weather after cutting, has brought to threshed grain unusual dryness and freedom from discoloration. The result is high grading for the bulk of the crop.

Steering Gear Breaks and Truck Takes to Ditch; Driver Escapes

Bursting into flame following its crash into the ditch at the side of the Sooke Road, a mile west of Colwood, a truck belonging to the Royal Wood Company and driven by D. Cross, started a fire that extended over a quarter of an acre of Hyde Park this morning at 10.30 o'clock. By 1.30 the blaze was reported under control by Fire Ranger Dunn.

The truck, bearing two cords of wood, was proceeding to Victoria when the steering gear broke. It swerved from the road and crashed into the ditch. Gasoline, spilled during the crash, ignited and flames spread to the load of wood, causing the truck to be demolished.

From the machine the blaze spread to the timber of the adjoining property and started a fire, which raged for several hours before being brought under control by a gang headed by Fire Ranger Dunn.

The driver of the truck escaped with bruises to his face and body.

TOLME TELLS SEATTLE OF NEW B.C. ROAD PLAN

Says His Scheme Would Connect Dawson With This Province

Seattle, Sept. 20.—An automobile road to Dawson City, Yukon Territory, is the objective of Premier Tolmie of British Columbia, who attended the Pacific Coast Foreign Trade Council convention here, according to a statement made by him to-day.

From a point near Hazelton, B.C., beyond the Canadian National Railway line, the proposed road, linking Mexico and the north in a long Pacific highway, would extend on to the territory.

With the existing roads, there were but 475 miles of highway to be built. The plan envisions a highway connection between Alaska and British Columbia.

THE DOUKHOBORS

To the Editor:—After reading the numerous letters protesting against the "cruel" and "unjust" treatment meted out to these objectionable people, I cannot help wondering why the Doukhobors should elicit so much sympathy.

It has occurred to me, that should any civilized person be taken into custody after committing such indecent acts as those practiced by these rebellious fanatics, would he find such ready sympathy? Just because the Doukhobor is apparently illiterate (through his own volition) is the offense, any the less repugnant? Just because he refuses to learn patriotism should we continue to countenance his resistance against our laws?

Admittedly, I do not know enough of the circumstances of their admission into Canada to know whether or not their deportation is feasible, but presumably it is not. In this case, Canada being powerless to rid herself of this stubborn, fanatical sect, it would seem that the least she can do is to endeavor to instill into their children some rudiments of patriotism, and to educate them into obedience of the laws of Canada. How else can we hope ever to be rid of this stupid element? What chance has a child, who is brought up in entire ignorance, educated only into disregard of the laws of his country?

If the parents object to their children being taught to obey Canadian laws, they are always at liberty to leave Canada. We can struggle along without them.

CANADIAN.

Victoria, September 19, 1929.

DOUKHOBORS

To the Editor:—I have been following with keen interest the recent Doukhobor trouble and the ensuing newspaper correspondence and comment. So far no one appears to have properly diagnosed the situation, but the letter of Arthur Hinder in today's Colonist does grope, so to speak, at the real understanding.

The problem is a serious one. It is not essentially a criminal problem, but rather one for the ethnologist and psychologist. People in general know absolutely nothing of the social and mental make-up of the Doukhobor. Fundamentally, his outlook and measure of life is religious, but its manifestation presents a spectacle of extreme paradox. His virtues are notorious and sublime—meekness, native simplicity, sincerity, domestic kindness and patient endurance. These are standards that we all might well emulate and assimilate. But, alas, the anomaly and paradox arise from this condition the moujik is notoriously liable to instant revolution.

Being essentially a fatalist, he measures no value in his individualistic breaks. From the Christian aspects of

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of the hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try taking acid all digestive acids and instead get out from any drastic dose of Bismuth, Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or laxative tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no nausea, gas or pain. Bismuthated Magnesia gives the taste and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

his normal condition he is possessed by paroxysms of ferocity and passion, and no code or law or regulation will deter him in his course. He is obsessed with the idea that God commands his actions. Then, suddenly, he has the way, and blindly he pursues his urge, while we say he is committing crime or is running amok. His whole idea is religious.

We should remember his history. The Doukhobor is one of a host of sects that developed out of the Raskol. The Raskol was a religious sect which revolted from the ritualism and ceremonialism of the Russian Orthodox Church in the seventeenth century. Its membership included many millions of the simple but devoted Russian serfs. In turn, the Raskol subdivided into a multitude of smaller sects, of which the Doukhobor is one. Their theme and controlling tenet is individualism. They renounce and reprobate municipal control. Their frequent and sudden outbreaks may be at any freakish tangent either of unbridled license or crime or absurdity. The outbreak is not always eccentric or tangent; sometimes, but with equal fervor, it is concentric and inverted, as when, for instance, whole communities proceeded to unsex themselves by acts of self-mutilation.

It is, therefore, apparent that the present problem before the Government here is a complex one. Can these poor people be handled by mere force of law? I doubt it, for when was religious fervor amenable to either force or ferocity of law? Leading is the obvious expedient, but is impracticable. Shepherding seems to be the solution. Whatever the solution, if any, it is well to understand the conditions, and hence my temerity in advancing this letter.

I have no doubt that the oncoming generation will produce a fine and dependable type of citizen, especially if the strict community order of these people can be broken up. We can well absorb their virtues. No race in the world is more remarkable for the virtues of pure religious instinct, domestic tenderness, of poetic reactions, industry and patience. I, for one, hope that capacity will rise to solve the problem.

M. B. JACKSON,
Victoria, B.C. September 19, 1929.

To Commence Oak Bay Bus

Next Wednesday Set as Day of Inauguration of Service to Outlying Districts

Wednesday next will see the commencement of a bus service from the city to the outlying districts of Oak Bay. It was announced to members of the Oak Bay Council last night by H. M. Foot, solicitor for the Veterans' Sightseeing and Transportation Company, which operates a fleet of Blue Line busses.

According to the announcement a bus will leave the corner of Douglas and Yates Streets every twenty minutes and will run in a loop from Oak Bay Avenue, through the city, to the terminus at Foul Bay Road, and thence to the terminus at Bay and Clibborn Bay Roads. The return to the city will be made along the terminus along Cadboro Bay Road, Bowker Avenue to St. Anne Street, Monterey Avenue, Oak Bay Avenue and Fort Street and return to Fort Street to the city terminus.

Another coach will augment this service in the outlying district south of Oak Bay Avenue. This coach will meet the one from the city on Oak Bay Avenue and will run in a loop from Oak Bay Avenue, through the city, to the terminus at Foul Bay Road, and thence to the terminus at Bay and Clibborn Bay Roads. The return to the city will be made along the terminus along Cadboro Bay Road, Bowker Avenue to St. Anne Street, Monterey Avenue, Oak Bay Avenue and Fort Street and return to Fort Street to the city terminus.

The schedule will be announced in a few days and will be posted at convenient places within the municipality. Mr. Foot further told the council. There will be no stops on the city side of Foul Bay Road.

Average Canadian Has $220 in Bank, Says H. W. Henwood

"We sometimes hear that our banks are monopolistic, that they have too much power and privilege and their profits are excessive," said H. W. Henwood, general manager of the Bank of Toronto, who has been visiting Victoria this week on his annual tour of inspection and conferring with C. W. Pangman and Arthur Christopher, managers of the Victoria branches of the bank.

"My own experience is that Canadian banking is highly competitive, and, considering the volume of business we handle and the service we give in good times and in bad times, when losses are inevitable, I do not think the profit of banking on a percentage basis are comparable with those of many commercial enterprises."

Mr. Henwood said that the Government, municipalities and individual depositors of Canada have entrusted the banks with a total of $2,200,000,000, which is now on deposit with them, and on a population basis of 10,000,000 this means an average of $220 deposited in the banks for every man, woman and child in the country.

CHANGE IN IRAK ADMINISTRATION NOW DISCUSSED

London, Sept. 20.—No immediate revelation of the Government's intentions regarding the mandate over the Kingdom of Irak is likely, although the report just presented by the Colonial Office to the Mandates Commission of the League of Nations concerning the working of the mandate is of the greatest significance. The Colonial Office report emphasizes the desire manifested by the people of Irak for a termination of the mandate and thereby conveys an indication of the new British Government's attitude toward the responsibility.

The mandate remains in British hands, according to the 1926 treaty, until 1930, or until such time as Irak shall be admitted to the League of Nations. Great Britain is already committed to support Irak's application for League membership in 1932.

OUTPUT OF COAL DURING AUGUST

Output of coal on Vancouver Island during the month of August showed an increase over July production.

The output in August was 86,083 tons, as compared with 72,550 tons the previous month.

The total output for British Columbia in August amounted to 176,909 tons as against 163,538 tons in July. Production of coke in August fell slightly below the average, 5,746 tons being produced in August, as compared with 6,345 tons in July.

Morrisburg, Ont., Sept. 20.—Fire completely destroyed the factory and warehouse of the Morash Store Company here yesterday, causing a loss of approximately $100,000.

JUST as it is possible to fashion a "gold" ring from part gold and part baser metals . . . so it is possible to make a soap from part pure soap and part substitutes. The karat mark on the ring tells you of its purity, but what mark is there on soaps to guarantee their purity?

With Sunlight soap . . . the "karat" mark of purity is on every bar. It reads: "Guaranteed Pure and to Contain no Adulterant Whatsoever."

Sunlight is the only laundry soap with a standing guarantee that it is all pure soap. Being pure, Sunlight dissolves readily . . . forming plenty of suds very quickly . . . suds which are lively and lasting. They wash more clothes beautifully clean without harm to fabric or colour . . . and Sunlight's pure, gentle suds never could roughen or hurt your hands.

MUCH WORK DONE BUT ROADS POOR SHAWNIGAN FINDS

Malahat Board of Trade Fears Impassable Highways This Winter

Special to The Times

Shawnigan Lake, Sept. 20.—G. A. Cheeke presided at the monthly meeting of the Malahat Board of Trade, held at Shawnigan on Wednesday evening, with ten members present. Proposed with twenty-four resolutions of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island was reported by Secretary Ironsides, who requested the Malahat board to follow up their resolution dealing with licensing motor freight trucks.

Five dangerous level crossings between Shawnigan and Cobble Hill were brought to the attention of the board, owing to the recent accident at Raymond's Crossing. The Board of Trade will urge the Provincial Government and the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway to remedy conditions. The following resolution was adopted for presentation to the Minister of Public Works: "Whereas, the approaches to Raymond's and Melrose Crossings, between Shawnigan Lake and Cobble Hill, are exceedingly dangerous, and in fact a serious accident occurred at the former point within the last few days;

"And whereas this board has in the past been assured by the officials of the Public Works Department that a road could be made at small expense that would do away with both these danger spots;

"And this board has reason to believe that there are blue prints in the department showing the proposed location of this road;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Minister of Public Works be earnestly requested to give this matter his prompt attention in the interests of public safety."

A resolution of protest against closure of a gazetted road in a Mill Bay subdivision was adopted. This road leads to the waterfront and affords access to the beach. The police of the proposed closing of this road appears in the current press, and the meeting went on record as vigorously opposing the closing of this road in the interest of the public.

ROADS VERY BAD

Col. F. F. Oldham, reporting for the public works committee, stated the roads in the district were very bad and unless they were given immediate attention they would be almost impassable in winter. The Public Works Department had done a great deal of widening of the road but had left the surface in a poor condition.

The outlet of the lake had been cleared, which would prevent flood conditions at high water. Work was being done on the long delayed approach road to the proposed public landing on the lake was about to be built. When finished the Dominion Government will build the floor. This matter has been promised for over fifteen years.

The pole line for the electric light service has reached Mill Bay.

A distinctive name for the road under construction on the west side of the lake is desired. There is the West Arm Road, and the west end is causing motorists considerable trouble.

CAMPERS CATS

The fish and game committee reported a plague of cats, which have destroyed many game birds. It was stated that summer campers bring cats with them and many of the animals go wild. The members agreed something must be done about it before game birds are cleaned out.

After the business session a supper was served and a round table talk affecting the interests of the district followed.

Six special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season, September 18, November 14, December 11, January 21, March 28, April 17.

101 Uses for Zam-Buk In Your Home

POISONED WOUNDS. Mrs. Villiers, Stadacona St., Montreal, writes:—"Zam-Buk is the finest healer I know. It saved my poisoned hand, and rid the child of scalp sores."

SOFTEN ARMS. Miss Hattie Bertrand, Galesburg, Ont., writes:—"My chapped hands and arms would never heal until we found Zam-Buk. Father has also proved it for skin troubles and injuries."

BURNS & CUTS. Mrs. J. Wilson, of Sarnia, Ont., says:—"I could not afford to be without Zam-Buk. It is the safest and most soothing healer for the children's burns, sores and cuts."

PILES. Mr. H. Fougere, of Poulamond, N.S., says:—"I suffered terribly with piles and could find no permanent relief until I tried Zam-Buk. It is the finest remedy I know."

BABY'S SORES. Mrs. C. B. Ritchey, of Riverport, N.S., writes:—"My baby had sores on her face, caused by teething. Zam-Buk completely healed them."

ECZEMA. Mr. W. Dangerfield, 938, Lipton St., Winnipeg, says:—"I suffered from eczema all winter, until I determined to try Zam-Buk. It was the only thing able to heal and clear my skin."

ACHES & PAINS. Mrs. F. Wyatt, 25, Guy Avenue, Montreal, says:—"I had rheumatism and stiff joints and muscles, but Zam-Buk rubbed in drove out the pains completely."

Zam-Buk is especially good for soothing and healing sore, wind-chafed faces and for clearing the skin of Spring pimples, blotches and rash. 50c. box all chemists and dealers.

DETROIT DEATHS BLAMED ON LACK OF FIRE ESCAPES

Many persons rushed for safety into a small dressing-room, seven feet by fifteen, in the rear of the building. Firemen found thirty of them, piled in the tiny space. Several of them were dead and others were badly injured.

The interior of the building was ruined, but the exterior to-day presents an almost unblemished appearance, save for broken windows and a fire escape which hangs, useless, a mockery to those who ventured to trust it as an exit.

Mary Cohen, proprietor of the club, and Robert Jackson, master of ceremonies, were closeted with police this morning. Cohen attributed the fire to rivals in business.

The Study Club had been operating about a year on the Verne Highway, about six blocks from the heart of the city and just off Woodward Avenue, the main artery of Detroit. Cohen was not in the place at the time of the fire. Another night club, the Lido, had its opening last night and he had gone to participate in the celebration.

Firemen who tried to enter the building through the window found the window opening had been covered inside with wall board. All windows on the second floor had thus been closed, they asserted.

Firemen and volunteers rescued persons and taxicabs which had been parked on a lot next to the building took them to the receiving hospital. Squads of ambulances arrived soon after the fire apparatus.

DIED FROM SUFFOCATION. Some of the victims died before the ambulances reached the hospital. Most of the fatalities, physicians said, resulted from suffocation.

Identification of the bodies was difficult because of the badly burned clothing and the disfigurements which followed suffocation.

WHEN CROWD WAS LARGEST. The fire came at the peak of the night's business, shortly after 1 a.m. Patrons who had dropped in for a drink had just settled themselves to the enjoyment of the entertainment which was offered by the club when the dread cry of "fire" came.

The building is three stories high in the front. A two-story addition had been built on the rear. The main dining-room occupied most of the second floor. The kitchen was on the first floor.

POLICE GAVE ALARM

The fire was seen by a policeman, who turned in the alarm, but before the fire apparatus had arrived the building was aflame from basement to roof.

The flames swept up an open stairway in the front of the building, cutting off the principal exit to the ground floor.

Many panic-stricken patrons leaped from second floor windows to the ground, a number of them having limbs fractured. Others were assisted through a hatch to the roof of the rear section, and carried down ladders by firemen and police.

One receiving hospital was crowded with the injured. Within an hour forty persons had been checked in, a number of whom died later.

Physicians and nurses were sent to the receiving hospital from all other hospitals in the city.

RESCUERS INJURED

John Duval Dodge, a member of the family of automobile manufacturers, was passing the club with a friend, Jack M. Garney. The two made their way into the building and assisted a number of persons to safety, themselves suffering severe burns.

For some time after they had been taken to the morgue, the bodies of five women lay unidentified. The clothing had been burned and the charred and blackened condition of the bodies made identification difficult.

Mrs. Helen Snyder of Montreal, believed to have been among those killed, was later identified as one of the injured women in the receiving hospital. Her husband, Alfred Snyder, was also injured.

Of the persons who leaped from the roof of the building in frantic efforts to escape the flames, six men landed safely in life nets hung by firemen.

WAS NOT SET

State and city fire commissioners, investigating the blaze with the police, declared they could find no evidence the fire was of incendiary origin. Draperies and light flimsy decoration, they said, accounted for the rapid spread of the flames, snatching fans and the architecture of the building had aided the flames on their mission of death and destruction, they said.

Fire Marshal Goldwater, after an investigation, said: "I can find no violation of the fire laws and I cannot see this was a set fire. It was not caused by a bomb. I have gone over the building carefully and think the fire was caused by some careless smoker, whose match or cigarette was thrown into the light decorations on the walls."

Regina to Have New Hudson's Bay Store

Regina, Sept. 20.—Official announcement was made here to-day by A. E. Whitmore, representing the Hudson's Bay Company, that a million dollar store for the company would be built here. ### Brothers in Montreal Sentenced to Death

Montreal, Sept. 20.—The Menard brothers, Lawrence, aged nineteen, and Norman, aged twenty-one, to-day were sentenced to be hanged for the murder of John Earl Durham, Quebec Charcoal Supply Company employee, who was shot and killed during an attempted hold-up. Mr. Justice Archambault pronounced the death sentence after the jury had been out twelve minutes, finding the brothers guilty. The case came before the court last Monday.

The Menards were ordered executed at the Bordeaux jail here December 30. Following the passing of the sentence the two prisoners had nothing to say and showed no emotion.

LOBBY FUND FOR U.S. SHIPYARDS TOTALS $143,000

After a few more questions, in which Barbo explained the termination of his company's employment of Shearer, the committee recessed.

Shearer is the man whose suit, filed in New York against shipbuilding companies for money alleged due for his services as an agent at the abortive disarmament conference at Geneva in 1927, caused President Hoover to take the action which resulted in the Senate's inquiry into propaganda against disarmament.

PAID $46,750

Barbo said Shearer had been paid about $46,750 in all by the New York Shipbuilding Corporation, the Newport News Shipbuilding Corporation and the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation.

Under questioning, he testified that $102,000 was spent on publicity work and other items leading up to the organization of the Transoceanic Company, subsidiary of the his own company, and its four-day liner plan.

Barbo said Shearer had not been authorized to "get into the cruiser fight" at Geneva. He asserted the shipbuilding companies now employed Frank Lord as their representative in Washington. "To keep us informed, run errands and get us facts not carried by the press," but he insisted Lord had no authority to interfere with legislation.

FOSTER URGES EARLY MOVE FOR ARMS PARLEY

States regarding war and armaments, asserted Sir George.

NOT TO BE PAWNS

"Are we giving sufficient attention to the sentiment of the people of that great nation which has almost infinite resources?" the Canadian delegate asked the committee, adding that in Canada 10,000,000 people had revolted from the idea that human beings could be used as pawns in settling international disputes.

Sir George pleaded earnestly that technical difficulties should not be allowed to delay the movement for a general agreement on limitations and reductions. He expressed belief that he reflected fairly the sentiments of between 150,000,000 and 160,000,000 people, representing "not the most backward folk on the globe."

Sir George's ardent appeal came as a climax for the smaller nations of Europe and those defeated in the Great War in their support of the British proposal. The three Scandinavian countries and Hungary and Austria ranged themselves with Great Britain and Germany in urging new instructions to the Preparatory Disarmament Commission with a view to hastening the calling of a conference, declaring world public opinion was ahead of the action in the Preparatory Commission with regard to the convening of a general conference.

Poland and Yugoslavia supported France in opposing the British move and urged that the present programme of the Preparatory Commission should be left undisturbed. They declared the British-United States naval discussions and the expected five-power naval conference, should first be permitted to come to fruition.

Discussion of Viscount Cecil's resolution was adjourned without reaching a vote, but the question should be disposed of quickly to-morrow.

Announcements were made that M. Poulton of Greece had a proposal for a compromise settlement of the conflicting British and French attitudes and that this would be made public shortly.

Crop Insurance Urged on Prairies

Saskatoon, Sept. 20.—Crop insurance is needed as a permanent solution of the consequences of such a year as this said Frank Eliason, secretary of the Saskatchewan section of the United Farmers of Canada, commenting on the relief legislation passed at the special session of the Saskatchewan Legislature. He thought it quite practicable to devise such a scheme of insurance as would prevent hardship in cases of crop failure. The whole community should contribute to such a scheme.

In the absence of such arrangements, the legislation passed was the best that could be done and was in line with the requests of the co-operators.

CAPITAL COMING TO CANADA

IN SPITE OF THE LOOSE TALK in which some of our more pessimistic public men indulge, outside investors refuse to allow themselves to be disturbed about Canada's future. On the contrary, they continue to put their money to work in this Dominion in ever-increasing amounts. We are reminded of this fact by a statement which Mr. Case R. Howard, of the New York staff of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, made at yesterday's session of the convention of the Pacific Foreign Trade Council in Seattle. His estimate of this country's importation of foreign capital is no less than $11,000,000 a month!

Mr. Howard warned his audience, however, that the new tariff proposals now before Congress already had been seized upon for propaganda by European nations who are seeking to obtain some of the business with Canada which the neighboring republic now enjoys. The speaker also alluded to the present trend in the direction of the further preferential trade agreements between this Dominion and the other parts of the British Empire, intimating that the inevitable result of this would be increasing competition for the United States producers in the Canadian market. In the opinion of Mr. Howard, these factors, coupled with a low rate of income tax in Canada, are further inducements to United States manufacturers, who desire to retain their export business, to establish branch factories in this country.

There are many indications of the westward shift of trading centres, a movement which at no distant date will contribute vastly to industrial and agricultural development in Canada. British industrialists are beginning to recognize that if they are to keep pace with their keenest competitors, they must establish branch plants as near as possible to the supply of raw materials. Canada not only holds out this inducement; there is the important consideration of proximity to the great and virtually uncultivated Oriental market. All of these signs and portents, incidentally, should strengthen the faith of Canadians in the future of their country.

THE FOUR-YEAR COURSE

UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS THE advantages of the four-year high school course authorized by the Department of Education over the existing three-year course appear to be more than offset by the disadvantages, as far as Victoria is concerned. The accommodation problem is acute, and there is no certainty that it will be any easier several years hence, when the full effect of the new provision will be felt. It is claimed by local school trustees that the extra year also will involve an increase of twenty-five per cent in the cost of high school maintenance. Another ground of objection is that a four-year course will impose too heavy a burden upon the parents of many of the students who will wish to take the matriculation examination, which up to now has been possible in the third year. While it is true that bright pupils will be given an opportunity to matriculate after the third year, for the most part students will have to wait until they have finished the fourth year under the new arrangement.

The Department of Education points out that its provision of a four-year course in the high school conforms with a recommendation made by the commission which conducted an educational survey of the province a few years ago. This recommendation proposed a middle school, or a junior high school, and three high school grades, the whole covering four years. The purpose of a middle school is to test students before they enter the high school, really to discover the direction their further training should take. In that laboratory it would be found that many of them should take technical training instead of a high school course. But we have neither a middle school nor a technical training school, and the recommendation of the survey report, therefore, is scarcely applicable. The ideal arrangement would be a technical school and three high school grades. In the peculiar conditions existing in this city, it would be better if the Department deferred its extension of the Victoria High School course until some later period.

PALESTINE A "HORNET'S NEST"

SHOULD GREAT BRITAIN RETURN her mandate to the League of Nations and relieve herself of the responsibility and expense the administration of Palestine involves, or should she continue in her present role and accept the risks of further racial and religious conflicts which are sure to break out? These questions are engaging the attention of a fairly large section of the British press at the present time.

Lord Rothermere has taken a bold attitude in a signed article in his London Daily Mail. He would turn the mandate back to the League of Nations forthwith, as he believes that to continue it will exact altogether too heavy a price. He sees little virtue in the Balfour Declaration, which pledged Great Britain's support to a policy of establishing a national home for the Jews in Palestine, and argues that the United States is much more attractive to the Jews as a national home than the prospect of "patriarchal" poverty in the Holy Land. "Morally," he proceeds, "we are under no obligation to remain in Palestine; financially, we incur a heavy loss in doing so; politically, our futile efforts to make Palestine an almshouse for Jews expose us to hostility from the millions of Arabs in the Middle East."

Another journal says when Great Britain went into Palestine she embarked upon "a formidable enterprise . . . besides imposing a superfluous and intolerable burden upon the British taxpayer; that it ran counter to our own pledge, at the close of the war, to give Palestine a Government based on the free choice of the native population; and that it was bound to be angrily resented by the overwhelming majority of that population. There are 750,000 Moslems in the country and only about 75,000 or 80,000 Jews. To maintain the privileged position of this small body, mostly recent immigrants from abroad, over the Arabs, who have been settled in the territory for centuries, British bayonets have to be constantly in evidence or readily available."

If there were any prospect of hundreds of thousands of Jews migrating to the Holy Land with the intention of ending their days there, the attempt to turn the country into something approaching an exclusive Jewish domain might eventually succeed. But there is no such prospect.

The British publisher concludes his article by reminding the people of Great Britain that the Crimean War resulted from a religious riot in Jerusalem; thus he counsels the nation to "get away from the hornets' nest while there is yet time."

LOIS RIVER POWER RIGHTS

TWO BIG CORPORATIONS ARE APPLYING to the Provincial Government for water rights on the Lois River, about twelve miles south of Powell River, for the development of electrical energy. One is the Powell River Company, which operates a large paper mill. The other is the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Trail. Both of these applicants are important factors in the industrial life of the province. The Powell River Company, already established within a few miles of Lois River, has invested between twenty-five millions and thirty millions of dollars in its enterprise, and wants to expand. The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company wants the water rights of this river in connection with the smelter which it proposes to establish on the coast. On the face of the situation, it would appear that the paper company has the stronger claim, since it already is operating on a large scale and needs the additional electrical energy for the extension of its plant. It was mainly a similar consideration, it will be recalled, which impelled the Government to decide in favor of the B.C. Electric Company in the recent application for the Campbell River waterpower.

TIPPING

CERTAIN INSTITUTIONS IN VARIOUS parts of the world politely tell their patrons that tipping is not allowed. Notices, prominently placed, inform all and sundry that the staff are adequately paid. The staff may have different views; but they may not state them on placards of their own.

The public is divided on the question. The patron who is inclined to be a little "close" with his spare change naturally would hesitate to disobey the injunction of the management. Then there is the other kind, the kind for whom the staff has the broader smile of welcome. Not all staffs that come into contact with the public, of course, use the tip as a yardstick of service or civility. Some natures are invariably sunny; but most are intensely human. It will be ever thus.

But the tipping that goes on, for example, in hotels and restaurants is merely the small fry of the business. Sir Percival Phillips, a well-known British journalist, has been making a study of tipping on the large ocean liners. He discourses at length, comparing wage scales with real returns, but the following will serve as an illustration of what he discovered:

If you should happen to be at a certain English seaport when one of the big floating hotels of the Atlantic arrives from New York, you may see a man of the prosperous business type, perfectly tailored and serenely self-confident, disembark when the ship is clear of passengers, and drive away in a limousine, behind a chauffeur in livery.

He is the chief smoking-room steward.

You may also see a man of different bearing, with the stamp of the sea all over him, whose clothes were evidently made for wear rather than ornament, half a taxicab or walk to the nearest tramway-car station. He is only the captain.

The trans-Atlantic ship's steward-de-luxe is the only person who has satisfactorily solved the age-old problem of extracting gold from sea water. The road to prosperity in the merchant plying along the seaways of the bridge, but through the pantry, along the stairways to the millionaire's suites, and up a golden staircase to the after-saloon, where cocktails abound and pools are made on the daily run.

The article concludes with the information that the writer we have quoted knows a library steward who "looks like a minor canon and dispenses books with a regal air," whose one ambition is to own a Rolls-Royce car when he retires, an ambition which Sir Percival expects will be realized.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FOR CHEAPER AIR TRAVEL
The Western Producer

Up to the present time the extension of the use of the aeroplane for ordinary purposes by ordinary people has been retarded by the expense. In spite of the time saved by traveling by air, the cost is too great for the average man employed on the average errand. In spite of several tragic accidents, the people are becoming less timid of aerial navigation, and when the passenger rates are brought within range of the ordinary businessman, there is no doubt whatever that there will be thousands of air patrons where there are now only scores.

IRELAND AND THE AIR MAIL
The Dublin Weekly Times

Next week will see an experiment of first-rate importance in European aviation, when mails are carried by air from Galway to England. If expectations are realized, western Ireland will become in the near future a vital link in international communications. Transatlantic ships entering Galway Bay will discharge mail-carrying aircraft from their decks, or mails will be taken ashore to be loaded into aircraft at Oranmore aerodrome, and then the flying craft will hurry over Ireland to destinations that could not be reached for at least another day, if the usual sea route to English ports were completed. Whatever may be the fortunes of the immediate experiment, it is certain that sooner or later the thing now attempted will come to pass.

A THOUGHT

Now I rejoice, not that I was made sorry, but that I am sorrowed to repentance.—II Corinthians vii. 9.

When a man has been guilty of any vice or folly, I think the best statement he can make for it is to warn others not to fall into the like.—Addison.

Loose Ends

The big news, as usual, is overlooked—Chicago vindicates itself as the friend of Man-while Paris weekly capitulates to Woman—St. John works up to schedule—and the Communists sent a new message.

By H. B. W.

YOU WILL find, if you watch these things over a considerable period, that the really important pieces of news cause the least interest. Such news recently came from Chicago, and the complacency with which it was received by an unthinking public is amazing. In Chicago, it is recorded, a woman married a singer. But no sooner had she captured his voice for her personal entertainment than he refused to use it. He would not sing at home. Accordingly, she went to the courts, and a Chicago judge solemnly sentenced the husband to sing to his wife at least twice a day, which in most cases would be a barbarous sentence to inflict on any family.

THE RESULTS of this judicial finding are likely to prove pretty serious. No man will be safe in marrying at all for fear that he may be forced to exercise whatever talents he may possess on pain of suffering a term in jail. Thus if a man is credited in the newspapers with being a well-known wit, he may be forced by the courts to crack two jokes a day for the amusement of his family, which would be hard on him when he usually saves all his wit for after-dinner speeches, but even harder on the family. A distinguished orator may be required to orate in his own house every night after dinner, and I suppose if a man happens to be a collector of old china he may be ordered to wash the dishes.

ON THE other hand, if the down-trodden sex cares to turn this new weapon on their wives it might be decidedly uncomfortable for them. For if a man married a lady with a reputation as a good housekeeper and she failed to live up to expectations he could secure an order from the courts forcing her to give up bridge in the afternoon and stay in every evening. These circumstances obtain so widely that one hesitates to offer this suggestion lest it start a general upheaval in the home life of all America.

IN FACT, it has already started. One Chicago husband told the courts that his wife went out every night to play bridge and forced him to mind the children. This was bad enough, but when the lady's bridge partner also parked her family on him, usually until 5 a.m., he decided that enough was enough. The courts gave him a divorce. Apparently Chicago, despite its reputation, is one of the most enlightened cities in the western world.

THE CASE of the Chicago bridge widower unhappily is a mere flash in the pan, and need encourage no man to expect social justice in this life. While that was happening in Chicago the women of Paris were breaking down one of the barriers erected by men to protect themselves in those days when men were men. For generations, it appears, no woman has been allowed by cafe proprietors to patronize the marble-top tables on the sidewalks unless accompanied by a male escort. It will be no surprise to us here, who already have experienced their supremacy, to know that British and American ladies already have won the battle for seats out in front. Now the French women seem to be making headway, too, for the great Andre de Fouquieres, arbiter of fashion, has come to their aid, but what can you expect from an arbiter of fashion?

NO DOUBT the women, as usual, will win out. It will be surprising if in the course of the next few years men are not entirely banned from the seats out in front unless accompanied by a lady companion. In an age which admits women to barber shops no place is sacred. Nowhere can a man get away from chatter and cigarette smoke and women. Nowhere except in the home.

THERE WAS a time not long ago when, if you were to say anything reasonable about the Soviet Government of Russia, you were likely to be regarded as a dangerous revolutionary who should be shot at dawn, or earlier. Now it is possible to cite an occasional fact in the Bolsheviks' favor without incurring this risk and without seeming to endorse their peculiar methods.

IT IS interesting to recall that just one year ago Dictator Joseph Stalin, Russia's "iron man," inaugurated his famous "Five Year Economic Programme," by which he proposed to make the Soviet Union entirely self-supporting by the year 1933. The first day Stalin published a record of the day's progress under this scheme. If his figures are correct, they are astounding. He says that factory wages have been increased in the year almost exactly according to his schedule. But instead of the 21 per cent increase in production, which the five-year programme called for, the industrial output of Russia has increased 28 per cent, which in a country of its size is something like a miracle. On the other hand, Stalin fell behind his schedule in failing to bring about large reductions in the price of manufactured goods.

THUS ENCOURAGED, Stalin intends to do still better in the second year, now starting. He plans to increase land under cultivation by eight per cent and industrial production by no less than 35 per cent. To do this he is budgeting for a government expenditure ture of five billion dollars, or thirteen per cent more than the rich United States Government.

WHAT STALIN hopes to accomplish in five years sounds impossible, and yet Walter Duranty, Moscow correspondent of The New York Times and one of the best-informed men in Russia, declares that "under lash of his (Stalin's) will, I believe that the programme outlined will be accomplished. Moreover, M. Stalin has behind him young Russia, that never knew Tsarist slavery and is free from the faults and vices of servile psychology. He and they have a daring which Danton declared was a guide to victory and a faith which one greater than Danton said could move mountains."

APPARENTLY SOMETHING is going on in the new Russia which most of us don't know much about. If the history of the French revolution is any guide, we need not expect to know much about it for fifty years or so yet.

HERE IS a more amusing side of Communism. While the world at large had nothing but good to say of the Boy Scouts' recent Jamboree, you could trust the crafty Communist to find in it a menace to peace. The English edition of "International Press Correspondence" informs the brotherhood of Communists that the Jamboree was "expressly designed to increase the numbers of the future cannon fodder," and that everything in the Scout's training is "directed to producing just those qualities that tend to make a good soldier." Which is just equal to saying that anyone who keeps in good physical condition is equipping himself with the essential qualities of a successful burglar.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, September 20, 1904

The chief head of the C.P.R., Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Wm. Whyte, second vice-president; Sir George A. Drummond, E. B. Osler and their various secretaries, arrived in the city last evening, and in conjunction with the representatives of the big corporation who had preceded them, presented quite a formidable array of railroad officials.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Light to moderate winds, continued fine, not much change in temperature.

Last evening's sitting of the city council was confined largely to routine work. Agnes Deans Cameron wrote calling attention to certain facts connected with the proposed extension of Carr Street and claiming that the by-law was already quashed.

Hon. F. J. Pulton, Provincial Secretary, returned to the city last evening after a trip to England.

The Oak Bay grounds have practically been selected as the future centre of all athletic sports. This is the result of a conference held last Saturday between members of the Victoria Lacrosse Club and local officials of the B.C. Electric Company.

Last evening a meeting of the Victoria District Football Association was held in the Y.M.C.A. rooms.

A party of Great Northern Railway officials, consisting of J. D. Farrell, assistant manager and R. T. Farrington, second vice-president, are in the city to-day.

BRIDGE REQUEST OF VANCOUVER SENT TO OTTAWA

President of C.P.R. Will Convey Suggestion of Federal Aid

Vancouver, Sept. 20.—Vancouver's request for Federal assistance in the construction of the proposed Burrard Street bridge, once refused, will be presented again early next month by E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Beatty gave an undertaking to this effect at the Civic Standing Committee on Bridges and Railways at a conference yesterday afternoon, which had been arranged by Mayor W. H. Malkin.

Mr. Beatty suggested the city send a delegation to Ottawa to confer with him when he takes the case to the Government, which will probably be October 6 or 7.

In a statement to representatives of the press following the conference, Mayor Malkin reported Mr. Beatty had studied the bridge plans submitted and was inclined to agree with the committee that if suitable arrangements could be made with the Provincial and Federal authorities, of the two suggestions put forward the double deck bridge was the better.

"Showing the keenest interest in the whole proposal and with a ready grasp of all the details," said the mayor, "Mr. Beatty has undertaken when he gets to Montreal early next month to take it up with the Government with relation to the amount of the contribution from that source."

VETERAN HOBBS LEADS BATSMEN

London, Sept. 20.—Final figures on averages for English cricketers for the season were issued yesterday. The veteran Jack Hobbs, England and Surrey, leads the batsmen, and R. Tyldesley, Lancashire, leads the bowlers.

Averages are:
Hobbs had thirty-nine innings, scored 2,265 runs (204 highest), five times not out, average 60.86.

Hammond had forty-seven innings, scored 2,456 runs (238 highest), nine times not out, average 64.63.

Woolley had fifty-five innings, scored 2,804 runs (178 highest), five times not out, average 56.08.

Meads had thirty-nine innings, scored 1,788 runs (233 highest), seven times not out, average 55.9.

Makepeace had sixteen innings, scored 693 runs (183 highest), three times not out, average 53.69.

R. Tyldesley bowled 1,114.3 overs, had 330 maiden overs, took 154 wickets for 2,389 runs, average 15.57.

White bowled 1,556.1 overs, had 631 maiden overs, took 168 wickets for 2,648 runs, average 15.76.

Goddard bowled 1,285 overs, had 357 maiden overs, took 159 wickets for 3,015 runs, average 16.38.

Voce bowled 894.3 overs, had 253 maiden overs, took 120 wickets for 2,043 runs, average 17.02.

Parker bowled 1,060.1 overs, had 307 maiden overs, took 138 wickets for 2,403 runs, average 17.41.

Hudson Bay Rail Line Is Expected To Carry Imports

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—The Hudson Bay Route will be as important from the standpoint of imports as exports, E. B. Ramsay, new chairman of the Grain Board of Canada, declared in an interview here yesterday. Possibly the new route would have its greatest value in reduced transportation rates on imports for the prairie farmers, he said. British manufacturers would be in a better position to compete in prices and a pronounced increase in intra-Empire trade would result.

"In my opinion," Mr. Ramsay said, "the Hudson Bay Route should be regarded as a channel for bringing overseas products to the west."

On their return voyages the ships would carry prairie grain.

New Fruit Trade Ruling Is Made

Vernon, B.C., Sept. 20.—The Committee of Direction has decided to make a difference between jobbers, and for this purpose has placed in one class buyers in large quantities who do not have travelers on the road, and in another class the jobbers who have travelers out and are distributing fruit and vegetables to the retail trade. Presumably the committee will decide into which class the various jobbers are to enter. The jobber who wins into the preferred class will receive a five per cent price advantage.

Pacific Foreign Trade Council Is To Meet in Honolulu

Seattle, Sept. 20.—An intensive drive to bring the 1931 convention of the Pacific Foreign Trade Council to Honolulu, bore fruit at the annual convention here yesterday when the council recommended that the directors award the next meeting to the island metropolis. The directors said they would accept the recommendation.

A. P. Haines, Seattle, senior vice-president of the council and general manager of the American Mail Line, was advanced to the presidency, succeeding the late William Pigott of Seattle.

NEW HOLDERS FOR WENGER CUP FOR TENNIS DOUBLES

Mrs. Bayles and H. C. C. Bennett Winners of Finals at Langford

The final tennis match for the Wenger Cup for mixed doubles, took place on Wednesday afternoon, when Mr. and Mrs. F. Ashley-Sparks, former holders of the challenge cup, went down to defeat before the brilliant play of Mrs. A. P. Bayles and H. C. C. Bennett, the score being 6-1 6-3.

During the fine weather tennis will be played every Saturday afternoon, and tea will be served at the Langford courts.

Morning service will be held in St. Matthew's Church at 11 a.m. on Sunday.

The monthly meetings of the Women's Institute, will be resumed on Tuesday at 2 o'clock in the Hall on Dunford Road. A talk on bulbs and perennials will be given.

The last dance of the Langford Lakeside Club will be held on Saturday evening.

Ashes Thrown Out By Mont Pelee

St. Vincent, West Indies, Sept. 20.—Fear of an eruption of Mont Pelee, on the island of Martinique, continues among the population of the town of St. Pierre. Yesterday there were heavy rains and a fall of ashes, accompanied by renewed activity of the volcano. Residents are evacuating towns near the mountain.

Mrs. Halkett Shot Self, Jury Agrees

Nanaimo, Sept. 20.—A coroner's jury yesterday afternoon inquired into circumstances attending the death of Mrs. Gordon Halkett, at Qualicum Beach on Wednesday morning, and found she died of a gunshot wound, self-inflicted, while suffering depression due to ill-health. Evidence showed the deceased walked from her own bedroom to a room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. E. F. F. Roe, with whom she was staying after the fatal shot was fired. She collapsed on the floor but remained conscious. Asked why she had done it, she replied she was tired and wanted to go home. She died within an hour of the shooting.

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST YOUNG PLAN IN BERLIN

Berlin, Sept. 20.—A large body of demonstrators against the Young plan, accompanied by a great crowd of sympathizers, marched in procession through this city last night. They carried banners bearing such devices as "30 marks every second for sixty years. We won't pay."

In the west end square several speakers addressed the crowd, stressing the declaration that "honor forbids us

WALES FAVORED TO WIN TITLE

London, Eng., Sept. 20.—The international rugby championship, for which England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland and France compete yearly, looks as if it will be quite as exciting this season as it was last, when Scotland won the honors. Wales have now definitely established themselves as really serious rivals for honors, a position, it has not occupied since 1922. From that year Welsh rugby was extremely disappointing until twelve months ago, when, after several experiments, she discovered a back division of considerable value, possessing as it did youth, pace and enterprise.

The Irish and Scottish teams this season will be much the same as last year, though Scotland will miss J. M. Bannerman, one of the greatest players the game has produced, who is now in the United States. George Stephenson, who though the record holder of "caps," is not by any means a veteran, hopes to attain his ambition and lead an Irish team to the title. This season Ireland plays England in Dublin.

England will have a number of new faces on her team. Such great stand-bys of the past as Cove-Smith and Periton will probably not appear again. France will put up her usual plucky games, but is not expected to be a serious contender for the championship.

W.C.T.U. DEPLORE DISMISSAL OF JUDGE MACGILL

Provincial Convention Urges Her Reinstatement in Juvenile Court

That the peremptory dismissal by the Provincial Government of Mrs. Helen Gregory MacGill from the Juvenile Court judgeship of Vancouver still rankles in the minds of the women of British Columbia was evidenced at the closing session of the provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union's annual convention last night.

The feeling of the women was embodied in the following resolution, passed unanimously:

"That we go on record in appreciation of the splendid work of Mrs. Helen Gregory MacGill as judge of the Vancouver Juvenile Court, realizing that her work has been a source of inspiration to our social conscience, we regret the rescinding of the appointment of British Columbia's pioneer woman judge, and urge that she be reinstated in the Juvenile Court of British Columbia."

The problem of mental deficiency gave rise to the following resolution: "That we express appreciation of the action of the Government in appointing a commission to make a survey of the situation re feeble-mindedness in British Columbia, resolved that we reiterate our stand on the necessity of proper care and treatment of such unfortunate persons."

TO THINK PEACE

The convention also went on record: "That we advocate and think peace, and we renew our allegiance to the League of Nations."

At yesterday afternoon's session, Mrs. J. A. Gillespie gave a comprehensive report of the national W.C.T.U. convention, at which she represented the provincial body. Mrs. Ann Strong gave the report of the literature and depositary committee; Mrs. Lanning that of White Ribbon Tiding, and Mrs. C. Spefford and Miss Edith Giles for the organization. Mrs. Helen Gregory MacGill presented an interesting paper on "My Neighbor as Themselves."

Chemainus Girl Weds Victorian

Chemainus, Sept. 20.—Charming in every detail was the wedding solemnized at St. Michael's and All Angels' Church, Chemainus, on Wednesday evening, September 18, at 7 o'clock.

When Florence Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Howe of Chemainus, became the bride of Bernard Howard of Victoria. Rev. Basil Spurling performed the ceremony.

The church was decorated by Mrs. Robert Walden, Miss Reid Fraser, and Miss Coralie Fraser, and was beautiful in soft autumn tints in colored leaves, salpiglossias, dahlias, white and mauve asters, and clematis, giving a perfect setting for the ceremony. The ushers were Mr. Noel Fraser and Mrs. A. Stubbs.

Mrs. Sandland ably officiated at the organ. As the Lohengrin wedding march was played, the bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, who gave her away. She wore a picture of girlish beauty, robed in white silk tulle with close-fitting bodice with tulle rose shoulder bouquet, full skirt with uneven hem-line draped with white tulle. She wore lace panels in front. Her beautiful silk net veil was worn cap style and held in place by a four strand bandeau of orange blossoms. White silk stockings and white kid shoes completed her toilet. Her shower bouquet was Ophelia roses, lilies and fern.

Miss Rosie Lepper, maid of honor, was charming in shell pink georgette, close-fitting bodice with rainbow bouquet on left shoulder. The skirt with nicot petals and ruffles and rhinestone buckle at waist. She wore a picture hat of pink georgette en suite, and carried a sheaf bouquet of pale pink gladioli.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Wyllie, was sweet in flame blue, flat crepe, shoulder bouquet, full skirt of picot petal flills, and rhinestone buckle at waist, with a cream silk and lace hat, with a wreath of blue flowers. She carried a sheaf bouquet of gladioli.

Mr. Arthur Howe, the bride's brother, supported the groom. During the signing of the register, Mr. H. Dobinson sang "Because."

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the young couple received under an arch of white and mauve asters and clematis with white bell overhead. About 150 friends were present.

The bride's mother was gowned in deep blue flat crepe, with cape collar and plaited skirt. The bride's sister, Mrs. Alex Dunne, wore green broadcloth velvet and helped to receive the guests.

The house was decorated with roses, gladioli and white and mauve asters. The handsome three-tier wedding cake was on a centre table beneath a large white bell, from which streamers of white and mauve were brought to each corner. The bride cut the cake which was distributed among the guests.

The bride chose for traveling, a two-piece suit of dark and Canon crepe, with plaited skirt and flowered top, green felt hat, brown coat of needlepoint, with fur collar and cuffs. The happy couple left by motor at 9:30 for the Forbidden Plateau, Campbell River, and other points north of the Island, and on their return will live in Victoria.

Many beautiful presents testified to the popularity of the young people. Out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Gillingham, Mrs. Hadlin, Jimmy McTaggart, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davies of Victoria, Mrs. Robert Feltz, Vancouver; Mrs. P. Sawyer, Port Alberni; Mrs. A. Dunne, Strath Lake; Miss A. Sharp and Miss P. Nicholson, Ladysmith, and Mrs. Talbot of Westholme.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

NOTED CHURCH WORKER DEAD

Mrs. Mary Ann Barner Was Life Member in United Church W.M.S.

Mrs. Mary Ann Barner, relict of the late Mr. Thomas Bolton Barner, passed away Thursday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Agnes McDowell, 422 Helmcken Street. The late Mrs. Barner was eighty-nine years of age and had resided in this city for some years. She leaves to mourn her, besides Mrs. Agnes McDowell, three other daughters, Mrs. Allen, Regina, Sask.; Mrs. Waters, Quathlanika Cove, B.C.; and Mrs. Bryce, Highworth, Sask.; three sons, Rev. Arthur Barner, superintendent of Indian Missions of the United Church of Canada; Mr. John Barner of Peace River; twenty-five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The late Mrs. Barner took a keen interest in mission work and was presented with a life membership in the W.M.S. seven years ago by Miss Agnes Spencer.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Mr. Call Bros. Funeral Home, Rev. Thomas Keyworth, assisted by Rev. S. Peat, will conduct the service, after which interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Lady Diana Duff Cooper Ill After Birth of a Son

London, Sept. 20.—The London Daily Mail said to-day that owing to complications, the condition of Lady Diana Duff Cooper, who became the mother of a son last Sunday, was causing anxiety. The famous beauty, actress and traveler, has been married ten years, but this is her first child.

Inquiries at the house, however, brought the information that there had been a turn for the better.

For the past few months, Miss Wenger has been for two and a half years at the Institut Eidenau, at Berne, Switzerland, taking a course in languages. Mrs. Wenger left Victoria in April to join her daughter, since when they have motored over three thousand miles through Italy, Germany, Austria-Hungary, France and Britain.

Mrs. A. B. Macdonald entertained at her home in Vancouver yesterday with brides and luncheon to honor Mrs. J. H. King, who with her husband, Hon. J. H. King, is on a trip west. A profusion of roses was effective on the table, and other guests were Mrs. A. M. Manson, Mrs. Lane Holmes, Mrs. J. W. deB. Farris, Mrs. W. A. Macdonald, Mrs. D. A. McDonald, Mrs. Aulay Morrison, Mrs. Murray Lay, Mrs. R. W. Wood, Mrs. Alex Fisher and Mrs. Sydney Junkins.

In aid of the funds of St. John's Guild, Mrs. Alex Wilson, 1070 Amphion Street, entertained at a largely attended tea on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. J. N. Forde, president of the guild, assisted the hostess in receiving the guests. Vocal numbers were contributed by Mrs. S. Sherratt and Mrs. H. Noel, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Green; and Mr. A. Wilson gave readings.

As a result of this affair a substantial sum will be added to St. John's Parish Hall fund, for which the guild is working.

A number of airmen, together with Mr. G. Robert Wilkes, owner of the yacht Helen I, a frequent visitor to Victoria, held an impromptu gathering in the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon. The flying men included Mr. Grant M. Elliott, with the Alaska-Washington Airways Incorporated; Mr. Don Monroe, Coast Air Transport Incorporated; Mr. Percy Barnes, pilot of the Victoria-Seattle mail plane; Mr. Clement Holden, dirigible pilot during the war; Captain Alex. Holden, vice-president of the Alaska-Washington Airways Incorporated; and Mr. Ben Bennett, business manager of the Alaska-Washington Airways Incorporated.

Billy Sunday's Son Divorced

Los Angeles, Sept. 20 (A.P.).—Mrs. Julia Mae Sunday yesterday was granted a divorce from William Ashley Sunday, son of the famous evangelist, in Superior Judge John L. Fleming's court.

Mrs. Sunday testified they were married in Yuma, Ariz., April 3, 1928. About six months ago, she said, his interest in her began to diminish, and they separated last June 10, after they invited guests to a party at their beach home for that night. At about 8 o'clock, she continued, Sunday telephoned he would not come home for the party, and gave no reason.

"And now, Mrs. Sunday," Judge Fleming questioned, "did this apparent coldness on your husband's part indicate to you that he was involved with another woman?"

"He refused to give reasons for leaving me at parties, or for coming home late," Mrs. Sunday replied. "I asked him if he was interested in another woman and he said he was. I never knew who she was."

Visitor Dies At Jasper Park Very Suddenly

Edmonton, Sept. 20.—Taken suddenly ill, Mrs. Mada Hall Alexander of Birmingham, Ala., wife of F. G. Alexander, president of the Cook's Tourist Agency of the United States, died at Jasper Park on Wednesday. She was sixty-five years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander had arrived at Jasper only a few days ago and had intended spending a month's holiday there.

George Washington, six feet three inches, was the tallest man to ever be President of the United States. Lincoln was one inch short of this mark.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

VICTORIA football players and fans will be interested to learn of several new and altered laws that were brought into force with the opening of the present season in Great Britain, and while these do not go into effect locally until 1930, they will no doubt interest local followers of the round ball game.

One of the most important changes is that which gives accused players the right of defending themselves against allegations made. In future any association, league, club, player, official, member or spectator against whom a charge is made, will have the right to attend the inquiry, cross-examine all witnesses and call evidence in their behalf.

Another change is that a player shall not be offside for a free kick for an offence under Law 9, handling, kicking, dropping, etc. This means more trouble for the referee, as most spectators will be ignorant of the change. As a matter of fact, most spectators are "team supporters" before exponents of fair play. They always want the referee to see their way, irrespective of rules.

A problem that gave plenty of trouble last season is the proper procedure to be adopted during the taking of a penalty kick. Here is the new rule on the point: "During the taking of a penalty kick all players, with the exception of the player taking the kick and the opponent's goalkeeper, must be within the field of play, but outside the penalty area, and at least ten yards from where the kick is being taken. The opponent's goalkeeper must stand on his own goal line until the ball is kicked. This rule looks almost the same as before, but there is a big difference. The difference is that players "must be within the field of play but outside the penalty area." That puts an end to the idea of defending players standing by the goal post and ready to dash on the field as soon as the kick is taken. If their goalkeeper made a partial save the defenders could thus be of assistance in tackling players as they rushed in.

Another rule that has been cleaned up is that relating to players' boots. There have been cases where players have been sent off the field because of projecting nails. The players were sent off and had to stay off. The penalty inflicted made an offence appear like a minor one. The new law, however, reads: "A player whose boots have been found not to conform with the law, shall be sent off the field of play and not allowed to return without first reporting to the referee, who will satisfy himself that the boots are satisfactory. A player may only return to the field and report to the referee at a time when the ball has ceased to be in play."

The "fan mail" of Al Campion, veteran guardian of the pass gate at Wrigley Field, home of the Chicago Cubs, winners of the National League pennant, threatens to surpass that of the most popular movie stars. His nationwide popularity has been recently when a humorous radio announcer told the whole country that Campion had a big supply of world series passes. Immediately thereafter, cables, wires and letters from fans begging for the precious pastebords began to pour in. One optimistic, but uninformed, individual offered to take a dozen passes off Campion's hands.

Wedding bells will ring this autumn for two very famous personages in the athletic world. Kitty Macrae, doughty defence star of the Edmonton Commercial Grads basketball team, becomes the bride of Eddie Shore, brilliant defence man of the Boston Bruins, world's hockey champions. Both of these young and celebrated persons are adept at resisting the attacks of the enemy in their respective sports. But their approaching marriage seems to constitute proof that there is no one so invulnerable as to be defence-proof against the thrusts of Den Cupid.

Recent news stories give the information that George Simpson, who was hailed by U.S. sports writers and fans as the world's champion sprinter, will be a candidate for the football team at Ohio State University. Strangely enough, Simpson is the man who pulled a muscle at Boston in trying out for the Olympic team last year. He is also the man who pulled a muscle in the U.S. intercollegiate at Chicago last spring. In addition Simpson is the man who pulled a muscle before the U.S.A.A.U. track and field championships started at Denver this summer and was unable to compete. And lastly, Simpson is the man who pulled a muscle and was unable to compete against Percy Williams at Vancouver this summer. And now Simpson is going to play football, a game which does more to break down and tear leg muscles to pieces than any other sport in the world.

Medalist Beaten In Canadian Golf; Finals Reached

Toronto, Sept. 20.—Mrs. S. G. Bennett of Lambton, Ontario, entered the final of the Canadian women's closed golf championship yesterday afternoon, when she defeated the medalist, Miss Honor Bright, Welland, Ont., two up in the semi-final match of eighteen holes.

Mrs. Bennett's opponent in the final to-day will be Miss Ada MacKenzie, Toronto, who is defending her title. Miss MacKenzie defeated Mrs. Eric McPhillips of Oshawa, Ont., six and five in the other semi-final match.

Pick of Amateurs And Pros to Take Part In Tourney

Victoria Will Be Well Represented in Title Event To Be Staged at Victoria Golf Club Next Tuesday and Wednesday; Bob Morrison, Recently Crowned City Champion, One of Favorites; Freddy Wood Will Head Vancouver Amateur Contingent; Handicap Tournament Arranged for Amateurs.

With the cream of British Columbia's professional and amateur golf talent entered the annual B.C. open championship will be held over the links of the Victoria Golf Club next Tuesday and Wednesday. Phil Taylor, pro at the Oak Bay club, who is accepting the entries, stated this morning he expected a record list of starters. Entries officially closed to-morrow afternoon. Play will be over seventy-two holes medal play, thirty-six holes each day. Some excellent cards will no doubt be turned in before the new provincial titleholder is decided. The draw for the competition will be made to-morrow night.

Yesterday three of the local pros, Phil Taylor of Oak Bay, Walter Gravlin of Uplands, and Freddy Morrison of Macaulay, along with Nat Cornfoot, from the Langara Golf Club, Vancouver, engaged in an eighteen-hole practice round. They were all playing well indicating that the local salaried players will make a great effort to keep the championship in this city.

VET LEADS YOUNGSTERS TO THE WIRE

T. S. Jordan, Eight-year-old Gelding, Captures Navy Pier Purse at Lincoln

Stupendous Beats Out Field in Hot Finish to Win Feature at Aqueduct

New York, Sept. 20.—The old adage that "youth will be served" received a blow from the turf yesterday as T. S. Jordan, eight-year-old gelding owned by Stuyvesant Peabody, mastered a field of much younger thoroughbreds in winning the Navy Pier purse at Lincoln Fields.

With one exception all of his rivals were three or four years old, but that made no difference to the aged son of Luke McLuke. When the barrier was sprung T. S. Jordan jumped right out in front like a flashy juvenile and there he stayed throughout the six furlongs.

Judge Hay, from C. E. Hay's stable, made a brave effort to keep pace with the gallant old turf veteran, but the closest he could get at the finish line was a length and a half back. A. A. Baroni's three-year-old Crofton was another two and one-half lengths back for third money. And as if to show that his racing days were far from over, T. S. Jordan stepped the six panels in 1:11, just two-fifths of a second off the track record.

The performance of the Peabody gelding was about the only bright performance on an otherwise drab card on the major tracks. Aqueduct featured the Woodmere claiming stakes, a six-furlong sprint for three-year-olds and upwards, graded from $6,000 up to $8,000.

J. E. Davis's Stupendous, making his first start since Saratoga, proved the best of the field in a hot finish and paid 15 to 1 and put $2,525 into the pocketbook of his owner. He finished a head in front of R. T. Wilson's shot over, which was the same distance in front of B. Block's Mordine, the favorite. The Andover stable's Cadilla appeared to be the best of the group but was given a "poke" by Bill Kelsoy and finished fourth.

Alekhine Winner Of Another Match In Chess Tourney

Wesbaden, Sept. 20.—Alexander Alekhine defeated E. D. Bogoljubow, Russian challenger, in thirty move yesterday in the eighth game of their series for the chess championship of the world. Alekhine now leads with four games won, two lost and two tied.

Famous Long Distance Runners To Compete In Race Against Horses

Philadelphia, Sept. 20.—Hole Bay, of Chicago, and Hans Kolchman, of Finland, two great long-distance runners, will appear in the six-day marathon race in which men will compete against horses, starting at the arena next Monday night. At least a dozen other runners of international fame will start in the event. The horses are to be ridden by jockeys during the long grind and Miss "Billie" Richardson, a girl jockey, will be in the saddle of one of the horses.

Fine Programme For School Gala Here Announced

Fourteen Finals and Several Heats Arranged for Meet in Crystal Garden on October 4 and 5; Each Municipality Will Have Entries in Big Races; Life-saving, Relay Races and Diving Contests Expected To Be Features; Many Competitors Will Swim.

A programme of fourteen events, including life-saving competitions, swimming races for boys and girls from twelve to seventeen years of age and diving contests has been drawn up for the fifth annual school children's gala in the Crystal Garden on October 4 and 5. Entries for the different events will close on Tuesday next, and hundreds of promising young aquatic stars are expected to compete.

In anticipation of an enlarged entry list, the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, under whose auspices the gala is being staged, has arranged to hold elimination heats on the evening of Friday, October 4, at the Garden. Students from the various municipalities will race against each other to decide which will represent their districts at the main gala on Saturday.

ELIMINATION HEATS These heats will be for boys and girls under twelve and fourteen, fifty yards free-style, as well as for boys under sixteen; over the same course. Competitors in these races will be divided up to ensure finalists from each municipality entering the big races for the school championships on Saturday. On the latter day the final students from the various municipalities will race against each other to decide which will represent their districts at the main gala on Saturday.

PROGRAMME The programme for the meet follows: Fifty yards, free style, boys under twelve years (elimination) heats, October 4. Fifty yards, free style, girls under twelve years (elimination) heats, October 4. Fifty yards, free style, boys under fourteen years (elimination) heats, October 4. Fifty yards, free style, girls under fourteen years (elimination) heats, October 4. Fifty yards, free style, boys under sixteen years (elimination) heats, October 4. Fifty yards, free style, girls under sixteen years (elimination) heats, October 4. Fifty yards, free style, boys under eighteen years (elimination) heats, October 4. Fifty yards, free style, girls under eighteen years (elimination) heats, October 4. Canadian Legion Cup (of Britannia Beach). Two hundred yards, relay (four to a team), boys under fifteen years. Two hundred yards, relay (four to a team), girls under fifteen years. Diving—Boys under eighteen, from one-metre spring board. Consisting of three compulsory and three optional dives. Running plan dive, running jack knife dive and back dive will be the compulsory.

Diving—Girls under eighteen, from one-metre spring board. Consisting of three compulsory dives as above and two optional dives. Diving competitors are requested to give a list of their optional dives along with their entry. A list of fancy dives may be seen on the notice board.

LIFE-SAVING Each competitor must swim twenty-five yards breast stroke, twenty-five yards back stroke, using legs only, and approach and carry by the society's first method of rescue, for a distance of fifteen yards, a patient selected by the society. In addition they must demonstrate the second method of rescue from the clutch of a drowning person, and dive from the surface for a weighted object in a depth of five feet of water.

On land they must demonstrate the Schafer method of resuscitation and illustrate the correct means of restoring circulation in a patient. What promises to be one of the most keenly contested events on the programme will be fought out when the municipal relay teams compete for the Canadian Legion Cup. Four swimmers, each of whom will swim fifty yards, will compose teams for this race. Diving contests also promise to be a drawing card for the event. This year the young spring board races will be required to perform three compulsory and three optional dives in the boys' section, while girls will perform compulsory and two optional.

THE TEAMS The teams will be as follows: Gibbon, Storer, Preston, McBay, Cameron, Hird, C. Blais, Glancy and Ezari. Reserves, Goad and Innes. All players are requested to be at the Veterans of France at 2:15 o'clock. Spanish Thistles will be selected from Willoughby, Joe Crowe, Armitage, Easter, Viggers, Jim Crowe, Phillips, Price, Harper, Minnis, Barnswell and Ewing.

Westholmes—Tipper, Campbell, Carmichael, Clarke, D'Arcy, Sneddon; McKenney, McNaughton, Baker, Ross and Skinkie. Reserves, Stuts and Stevens. Esquimalt will be selected from De Costa, Sweeney, Joe Watt, Stewart, Mesher, Hosmer, Bell, John Watt, Stewart, McAllister, Collier and Scannell.

Five C's—Farguhar, A. Tuckwell, E. Harwood, R. Shanks, McConnell, Quinn, G. Sands, T. Cockin, Burgess, P. Shanks and Bradshaw. Victoria West—Hetherington, Lloyd, Williams, Thompson, Fedden, Bonds, Wright, Collins, Yuson, Robinson and Mutchay.

of the V.A.S.C. at the Crystal Garden, or on the new C.A.B. handbook, which may be obtained from the secretary of the Royal Dairy, 707 View Street. Both galas will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Marjorie Todd and Mrs. Philbrick In City Golf Finals

Fourteen-year-old Star Continues Sensational Play, Defeating Mrs. Forbes Wilson 5 and 3; Mrs. Philbrick, the Medalist, Wins Over Mrs. Jackson, 3 and 2; Thrilling Final Expected To-day; Mrs. A. Watson and Mrs. E. E. Watson in Finals of First Flight.

To-day will be one of the biggest in the life of Marjorie Todd, sensational fourteen-year-old golf star of the Victoria Golf Club, who yesterday surprised the local golf world by winning her way into the final of the city women's championship at the Oak Bay links. She entered the final round through a splendid 5 and 3 victory over Mrs. F. Forbes Wilson of the Colwood Club and a former B.C. champion. She will meet, in the final, Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, a clubmate and former champion, who reached the deciding match by her 3 and 2 victory over Mrs. Jackson of the Uplands Club in the other semi-final.

CLUB MEMBERS IN GOLF PLAY

Forty-six Members of Pacific Club Will Compete For President's Cup

Members of the Pacific Club will engage in their annual golf tournament on Sunday morning at the Colwood Golf Club for the handsome cup presented by the president. Forty-six entries have been received and keen rivalry will be shown amongst the fellow members.

The first foursome will get away at 9 o'clock, while the last players will tee off at 9:50 o'clock. The draw and starting times follow: 9 a.m.—J. H. Beatty, M. P. Barnes, W. E. Cathel, Thomas Cole. 9:05 a.m.—Dr. George Hall, C. S. Fraser, W. J. Johnston, Dr. A. J. Garreche. 9:10 a.m.—H. O. Kirkham, J. R. Kingham, H. K. Perry, A. T. Brodie. 9:15 a.m.—T. H. Leeming, B. P. Auto conveyance has been arranged for those who require such and may be obtained through the secretary on Saturday.

Keen Competition Expected When Old Soccer Rivals Clash To-morrow City Strengthen Up; Victoria Wests Will Oppose Five C's at Royal Park

After a most successful opening last Saturday First Division football teams will engage in three matches to-morrow afternoon. What is considered the feature game of the day will be seen at Brown-Hill when Victoria City, last year's champions, and the Spanish Thistles clash. At the Royal Athletic Park the Five C's and Victoria West meet, while the Westholmes and Esquimalt are engaged for Victoria West Park. All matches will commence at 3 o'clock.

Keen rivals last season the City and Thistles are expected to put on a real game to-morrow. Both clubs hung up victories last week, the former defeating Esquimalt, while the Thistles accounted for the Wests. The City will make several changes over their team of last week. Alex. Cameron, one of the best wing men in the city, will play outside right, while Gibbons, formerly of Ladysmith, will be the left-back. Another new player by the name of Hird, formerly with a Calgary eleven, will play on the forward line. The Thistles will field the same team as last Saturday, although Wes Harter, their left-back, will move up into the centre-forward position, while his old place will be taken by Armitage.

In quest of their first victories the Wests and Five C's are expected to put on a good match. Both teams were beaten out by the odd goal last week, the Wests losing on a penalty kick. The Westholmes-Esquimalt match should also be productive of some good soccer. The former, who finished in last position last season, stepped out to start this season right by winning their first game from the Five C's. Esquimalt put up a great fight against the City last Saturday.

Leo Lomski May Fight McTigue In Seattle Ring

Seattle, Sept. 20.—Leo Lomski, Aberdeen light-heavyweight, was signed by Biddy Bishop, Seattle promoter, yesterday for a six-round bout on October 1.

Lomski's opponent has not been selected, but he will be Yale Okum of New York; James J. Braddock, Jersey mauler; Mike McTigue, former light-heavyweight champion, or George Manley of Denver, Bishop said. Chances appear best to get either McTigue or Okum, he added.

Chicago Cubs Are Out After 100 Victories

GRAHAM McNAMEE WILL BROADCAST BALL CLASSICS

First Ranking Sports Announcer to Send World Series Over Air For NBC

Football Games Also on Programme to Be Given By Veteran 'Play-by-play Man'

With the pennant races of both major leagues decided, and plans completed to begin the 1929 World Series at Chicago Tuesday, October 8, the National Broadcasting Company to-day announced final arrangements to broadcast every game between the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Athletics through a nation-wide network of NBC system stations.

Graham McNamee, veteran of several baseball classic and dozens of other major sport events, will bring a vivid word picture of every important happening at the ball parks to the radio audience.

Seeking Individual Honors

ROGERS HORNSBY

"HACK" WILSON

Two of the big guns in the batting and fielding strength of the Chicago Cubs, who have refused to stay out of the game although their club has clinched the National League pennant. They are out to try and capture individual titles.

Field, Chicago and Shibe Park, Philadelphia, has already begun. This equipment will be ready for final testing long before the initial "Play ball" resounds through the October air in the air of the Cubs.

Combined facilities of the NBC Coast-to-Coast System will broadcast every game played. The World Series schedule is subject to revision because of weather and other conditions, announced Judge K. M. Landis, baseball commissioner. On Tuesday and Wednesday, October 8 and 9, the first two games will be played at Chicago. Thursday, October 10, is an open date while the two teams travel from Chicago to Philadelphia. The next two games will be played at Philadelphia on Saturday, October 11 and 12. Should further games be necessary, the two teams will resume their war at Philadelphia on Monday, October 14. Sunday being another day off due to the Pennsylvania Sunday closing law. The next final two games, should either team have failed to score the necessary four wins to clinch the title, will be unfolded in the home of the Cubs.

OPENING GAME
The opening game is scheduled to begin at 11:30 a.m. Pacific Standard

Rogers Hornsby And Wilson Seek Individual Titles

Two Stars of National League Champions Refuse to Take Few Days' Rest Before World Series; To Chalk Up Century Mark Cubs Must Win Six of Remaining Nine Games; Cubs Come Out of Slump to Blank Giants; Walberg Pitches Fine Game as A's Tounce Detroit.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—The Cubs are in, but several desires remain to be satisfied before the closing of the National League this season. Apparently on the way out of the slump that caused them to drop three games in a row, just when they wanted most to win, Joe McCarthy's club is aiming at an even 100 victories for the season. To accomplish the job Chicago must win six-out of its remaining nine contests.

Rogers Hornsby and Hack Wilson have refused to take a few days of rest, hoping to win individual titles. Hornsby figures he still has a chance to win his seventh National League batting championship and is certain he has a chance of winning the home run title, although he is two homers behind Wilson, Ott and Chuck Klein, who are tied at thirty-nine.

Whatever trepidation the strange antics of the Messrs. Grove, Bush, Carlson and others may have placed in the breasts of Connie Mack and in Joe McCarthy through the last few weeks, these forthcoming world series rivals could pick no flaws in the work of Rube Walberg and Pat Malone yesterday.

With a team of rookies at his back, Walberg whipped his fast one through the bright autumn air at Shibe Park with such effectiveness that the hard-swinging Bengals from Detroit were able to get only four safe blows. It was hardly a day for a speed ball but the game would not have been even close if Walberg had not given nine free passes. He won by 5-4.

Arthur Herring, who made such a fine start against Boston a few days in his major league debut, had a tough afternoon against the second string A's, but escaped just in time to leave the defeat in Owen Carroll's lap. The Tigers tied the score with a run in the eighth, but the Macks untied it again with one marker in the home half of the same round while Mr. Carroll was in charge of the mound.

CUBS WIN ONE

Since the Chicago Cubs no longer need to win, they broke a losing streak yesterday behind the six-hit pitching of Pat Malone, who defeated the New York Giants 5-0. Larry Benton was prodded for all of the Chicago runs in the first two innings before Jack Scott was called to the rescue. Scott allowed no hits in four and a fraction innings, but gave way to a pinch batsman and Ralph Judd finished without incident.

Boston scored in fast work in Pittsburgh, defeating the Pirates by 6-3 in the third game of the series. Harry Seibold, the venerable recruit, got credit for the victory, but Johnny Cooney finished the game for him after a pinch batsman appeared for Seibold in the midst of winning rally of the Braves in the seventh. The Bostonese now are one up in the three games. Burleigh Grimes was the defeated pitcher yesterday, taking his eighth loss.

Ray Kolp splashed the Phillies with a 5-0 coat of whitewash at Cincinnati, giving the Reds two straight and a tie for sixth place. The Reds have two more games against the Phillies and must win both to pass Burt Shotton's team.

Brooklyn and the Cards were idle. Along the American League front the most interesting secondary development was Washington's further success in entrenching its forces in fifth place. The Senators took a thriller from the St. Louis Browns by 2-1 yesterday as Detroit lost to the Macks, and at nightfall Walter Johnson held the top place in the second division by two and one-half games. Washington defeated the Browns by scoring twice on George Blaholder in the ninth after the St. Louisans had broken a scoreless tie by rapping Fred Marberry for a single run in the first half of the round.

Three safe bunts and Sam West's single broke up the game with none out. St. Louis killed an earlier Washington rally when Blaholder and Melillo engineered a triple play.

Fewer than 500 fans turned out to see the Chicago White Sox blank the New York Yankees by 7-0. This undoubtedly will produce much rain at the Yankees' stadium in the few remaining days of the season, even if none is to be found elsewhere in New York. Hal McKain gave the larrupping Hugmen just four blows, all singles, as the Sox drove George Pipgrass from the mound.

Milton Gaston pitched the Red Sox to a 3-2 victory over Cleveland at the Fenway in a close battle with Willis Hudlin. For the first time in two years major league swatsmiths failed to produce even one home run on a day marked by more than four games. All but two of the teams were in action yesterday, but not a single circuit blow was delivered.

GOVERNOR OF HUDSON'S BAY CO. AT FORT GARRY WITH HIS COMMITTEE

Charles V. Sale, governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, was photographed with the members of the Canadian Committee in front of old Fort Garry, Winnipeg, on his way east from a visit to Victoria. Those in the above picture are, left to right, R. J. Gourlay, James A. Richardson, George W. Allan, K.C., (chairman Canadian Committee), Charles V. Sale (governor), James Thomson and C. S. Riley.

Fort Garry was built by the Hudson's Bay Company in 1822 and, with the exception of the gateway, was demolished in 1883 to make way for the extension of Main Street. The southeast bastion of Fort Garry stood on the site of Hudson's Bay House on the east side of Main Street. The gateway was not demolished, and together with the little park upon which it stands, was given by the company, in perpetuity, to the City of Winnipeg in 1887.

of the plant society was illustrated by the manner in which they selected only living trees and other plants on which to attach themselves.

The speaker referred to the activities of these as the work of a degenerate guest, who after securing admission to another man's residence, killed his host.

Orchids were scored for their inability to make their own livelihood by the lecturer, who showed that through the degeneracy which followed in this particular plant they lost power of reproduction and were unable to fertilize their seeds. On the other hand, the dandelion was highly praised for its industry in seed production. The latter flower was considered a veritable colony of hard-working members bent upon perpetuating their kind.

DEGENERACY THROUGH CULTIVATION

Excessive cultivation also tended to cause degeneracy which resulted in loss of reproductive power, the speaker continued, saying that when this was the case, propagation could only be brought about through artificial means such as cuttings.

Many other phases of plant life were dealt with during the address and many points supporting the belief that plants had morals were brought forward. Throughout the lecture the speaker drew analogies between plants and human beings which impressed his hearers forcibly.

Preceding the meeting, last year's executive was elected en bloc for the ensuing season.

A. B. Saunders, M.A., Oxon., will again be president of the association with Miss J. A. Cann, B.L., as secretary. The latter presented the financial report for the year, which showed an expenditure of $109.74, receipts amounting to $113.70 and a credit balance of $112.16.

FIGHTING PADRE TO SPEAK HERE

Archdeacon F. G. Scott of First Division, C.E.F., to Meet Veterans

Archdeacon Frederick George Scott, better known to veterans of the Great War as "Canon" Scott, the famous front-line padre of the First Canadian Division, will meet old acquaintances in this city, when he addresses a meeting of the veterans to be held at the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion, on September 30. Lieut.-Gen.

Sir Percy Lake will call the meeting to order at 8 o'clock.

Archdeacon Scott will be remembered by all who served in the First Canadian Division of the Canadian Corps, with which he served four years, and refused to be kept out of the fire trenches. He wrote and recited poetry composed actually under shell and rifle fire, and was beloved by all ranks of the Canadian Corps.

Now in the city, in the course of attendance on the opening of the new Christ Church Cathedral, "Canon" Scott is meeting old comrades everywhere he turns. His service at the front included the historic engagements of Ypres, the Somme, Vimy, and other major battles, up to the time he was severely wounded in the last month of the World War.

Six special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season, September 18, November 14, December 11, January 23, March 28, April 17.

PLANTS HAVE MORALS, SAYS U.B.C. LECTURER

Professor Davidson Illustrates Social Instincts Shown in Flora

Intensive Study of Parasitism Made During University Extension Lecture

In as much as some plants were self-supporting while others lived through parasitism, they displayed some social instincts, stated Professor John Davidson of the University of British Columbia, during his lecture on "Have Plants Morals?" given before the University Extension Association at Girls' Central School last night.

Throughout his address, the speaker illustrated many of his points with excellent lantern slides. Sketching the early history of botany, Professor Davidson noted that, in the sixteenth century, plants were considered from a utilitarian standpoint only. As they were beneficial as herbs for curing sickness they were appreciated by the earlier students. At a latter date botanists credited flowers and flora in general with almost human intelligence and sensitiveness.

ERRONEOUS THEORY

Following 1776 they discarded the erroneous elementary differences distinguishing plants from animals when it was found that mobility, and sensitiveness were not restricted to animals. The dependability of animals on plants was illustrated by the speaker through the theory that when the prehistoric plants which formed the basis of the sustenance of prehistoric animals, became extinct, the animals also died off.

Ellies typified the highest grade of flower in plant society, according to Professor Davidson. These were entirely self-supporting and showed great adaptability under new environments. In the plant, the speaker continued, the different cells functioned as members of a highly organized community each performing specialized work.

Employment of electrical energy in the leaves and the transportation system used throughout the plant were then dealt with along with the manufacture of food stuffs necessary to the plant.

PARASITES

Parasites, such as ivy, twining border and other plants which drew their sustenance from others, were then touched upon. The apparent discrimination shown by these stalkers

POOREST LAND

FOR GRAZING

RICH IN OIL

O. W. Matthews, Texas Cattle
Rancher, Tells of Development in Southern States

"We had a fleeting glimpse of Victoria on our last tour of the northwest and decided to return for a longer visit," said O. W. Matthews, cattle rancher of Fort Worth, Texas, who arrived at the Empress Hotel today with Mrs. Matthews from San Francisco by the Ss. Ruth Alexander.

Mr. Matthews is the owner of 11,000 acres of cattle grazing land in Reagan County, Texas, and 10,000 acres in Tulsa County, Oklahoma.

Fort Worth, where Mr. and Mrs.
Matthews make their home, is the second largest city in Texas with a population approaching 200,000.

The city has doubled its population within the last five years, its rapid development being due to the discovery of oil in the State of Texas.

The cattle industry of Texas has been herded into the background by the oil industry and this applies also to the adjoining state of Oklahoma.

The land that was considered the poorest for cattle grazing has turned out to be the richest in oil.

PROPERTY GOES UP FAST

Before the discovery of oil in Texas the Yates ranch property was valued at two and a half dollars an acre.

The Yates Pool is now the richest oil producer in the south and the owner, once without a dollar, is now a multi-millionaire.

The property of Mr. Matthews is in the vicinity of the big oil fields and he is interested in several shallow wells. These shallow wells run to a depth of 600 feet. The average depth of the larger oil shafts is 4,500 feet, while some run to 5,000 and even 6,000 feet.

Mr. Matthews has property interest in the Walla Walla Valley in Washington, and he plans to settle in the northwest.

He hopes to indulge in some salmon fishing here before he returns to Texas.

Houston, Texas, Sept. 20 - After going north to Montreal, Canada, last year, and coming south to Houston this year,
members of the I.O.O.F. and associate bodies will hold their international convention at Indianapolis in 1930.

Indianapolis was selected over Bethlehem, N.H., yesterday.

The sovereign grand lodge also acted upon several other important matters.

The Odd Fellows eliminated their sick benefit requirement so that in the future a man may join the lodge for the social and fraternal advantages alone. The dues will be less than if he were forced to pay for the sick benefits.

After considerable discussion the sovereign grand lodge also adopted plans for creating life memberships in all branches of the order. Each jurisdiction will decide whether it will take in life members in its locality.

NEWS IN BRIEF

For reorganization of the salesmen's division of the Real Estate Board of Victoria, a meeting of realty salesmen will be held on Thursday evening next at 7:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce.

When he pleaded not guilty through Oswyn J. Boulton, counsel, to a charge of driving to the common danger on Douglas Street, September 15, Henry Ritchie was remanded until Monday in City Police Court this morning.

Hearing of a charge of keeping beer for sale in the Cora M. White opened in City Police Court this morning. After considerable evidence was taken, the case was adjourned until September 27. W. A. Brethour appeared for the accused.

Nine-year-old Young Suey, Chinese, was taken to hospital last night with a fractured leg following an accident on Government Street in which the boy was knocked down by a car driven by A. Menzies, 979 Inverness Street. Dr. C. W. Duck attended.

H. N. Dunnett, charged in Saanich Police Court with driving to the common danger following an accident on Cemetery Hill, East Saanich Road, was again remanded when the case was called yesterday. The hearing was set for next Thursday afternoon. R. C. Lowe appeared for the defence.

The usual card party will be held in Lake Hill Community Hall on Monday evening next under the auspices of the Women's Institute. Arrangements are complete for the dance to be held on Wednesday next. Organ's three-piece orchestra will provide music for dancing and refreshments will be served.

C. H. O'Halloran, appearing for the Federal Department of Fisheries in proceedings against the United States fishing vessel Olympia, No. 1010, will apply to Mr. Justice Martin in chambers to-morrow for a date to be fixed for the trial of the issue. The Olympia was seized by Canadian fishery protection officers and is accused of illegally fishing in Canadian waters.

Olaf G. Anderson, a native of Norway, applied for Canadian naturalization papers before Judge Lampan in County Court chambers to-day. The applicant came to Canada on the steamer Montclair in the early 1920's and has been engaged in logging at Port Renfrew for many years. Frank Higgins, K.C., gave evidence of the good character of the applicant, whose papers will be forwarded to Ottawa through the usual channels.

The history of Elk Lake, from the time it came into prominence as a watershed, down to the various phases of its use as reservoir, farm, park and playground, were under scrutiny at the City Hall to-day, in preparation for a conference between a special committee of the City Council and Saanich representatives, to take place at the City Hall at 10 a.m. to-morrow. Mayor Anson, Alderman J. L. Mara and Alderman John Harvey will represent the city.

Rev. J. K. McIntyre, in a statement to The Times to-day, corrected two impressions arising out of his speech at the W.C.T.U. meeting Wednesday night. It was the Minister of Public Works, he said, who praised the liquor control system of this Province in an interview with The Halifax Chronicle not the Minister of Lands. With regard to liquor consumption increases throughout the world, there was no country where the increase was as great as it was in Canada, he pointed out.

Rev. Alta Walker, missionary from the Anglican Church, who addressed a large and interested audience at the Pentecostal Assembly at 1313 Broad Street, on Wednesday night, will give another address to-night at 7:30 o'clock. He will exhibit many of his African curios. Rev. Mr. Walker told more of his experiences in the Congo and the customs of the pygmies and other African tribes. He will also demonstrate the African signal drum, with which the natives transmit their messages.

Rev. Geo. Dean, a well-known rector of the United Church, died to-day at Ganges Harbor. He was 73 years of age.

Grain Board Chairman Advises Caution Till Overseas Market Price Rises

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—Nothing should induce Canadian farmers to move their grain overseas unless they receive a proper price. This is the position taken by E. B. Ramsay, chairman of the Board of Grain Commissioners.

There are sufficient storage facilities in Canada, Mr. Ramsay said in an interview here last night, "to take care of this year's crop as well as the large hold-over from last year. If there should be any congestion it will likely be only temporary."

The welfare of all Canada depends on the farmers receiving a proper price for their grain, Mr. Ramsay said. "There has been some reluctance overseas to pay the figure demanded, but this should not discourage the farmers in their desire to obtain an equitable return for their crop."

CROP GRADES HIGH

There was every indication that although this year's crop was not large, it would prove one of the best on record from a grading standpoint. The bulk of the crop was grading No. 1 and No. 2, Mr. Ramsay continued.

This is Mr. Ramsay's first visit to Ottawa since his appointment as chief commissioner. Yesterday was spent in a long interview with Hon. James Macdonald of Trade and Commerce, and it was said further details in connection with marketing the crop would be discussed to-day.

Six special concerts at the Empress Hotel this season, September 18, November 14, December 11, January 23, March 28, April 17.

Prime Forest Cannot Form Roadside Screen, Realtors Are Advised

Forest Giants Unable to Stand in Highway Borders, P. Z. Caverhill Asserts; High Winds and Insect Pests Destroy Mature Timber; Preservation of Accessible Stands Not Justified, Chief Forester States.

Preservation of scenic timber borders on the highways of British Columbia, such as the stand at Cameron Lake, was declared useless and wasteful this afternoon by P. Z. Caverhill, Chief Forester, before the Victoria Real Estate Board at the fortnightly luncheon at Spencer's restaurant.

"All of us love trees; it is an inherent instinct with us, but not many of us, even in the Forestry Department, understand trees," he said. "Many of us think trees go on for ever. However, trees are living things, existing under well defined natural laws. Any important change in conditions will affect forests, possibly resulting in total destruction," he pointed out.

Telling how forests start with thousands of trees to the acre, number a few hundred at maturity and in old age are counted by dozens, Mr. Caverhill said trees of advanced age become more susceptible to disease and fungus attack.

EASILY DESTROYED

He cited a recent instance where beetles which attacked young trees, were drowned out by exudation of resin, which they have little resistance to. Winds were only second in destructive force to fire and Mr. Caverhill told of several striking instances of widespread devastation.

"Trees will adapt themselves to their environment. Trees grown in the open develop resistance, but where they grow in mass, sheltered by their own numbers, they have little resistance to wind when conditions change to give heavy winds open access," he pointed out.

Admitting that tall cathedral trees were an undoubted attraction for tourists, he stressed the view that they were not the only cause of tourist traffic. Oregon had more big trees to show and California has large specimens, Mr. Caverhill pointed out. He told of the lack of forests in Switzerland, where tourists were a major business, and at Pontineau and other French resorts, where tourists and lumbering went hand in hand.

SUPPORT CONSERVATION

"I am in agreement that we should preserve some of these forests, to let future generations know what they were like. Under any re-forestation we shall never see the same old forests again," he said, telling of the miles included in the 4,000 square miles already set aside by the Province.

Commercial areas now set aside aggregated 13,000 square miles and Mr. Caverhill believed that these areas would perpetually provide fine timber for use and for scenic purposes.

ALPINE ATTRACTIONS

"The Forbidden Plateau is a veritable wonderland, where deer graze unafraid and game trails lead to the top of the mountain. In the lower areas there are pockets of fine timber as is to be found anywhere."

"We could place a dozen Swiss-like chalets in our alpine areas and still have a good deal left over. It is in this area which I believe is going to be the tourist attraction of the future."

"As to leaving tree borders along highways, personally I cannot see it. You would have to widen the strip greatly because of the danger of wind-blown trees. It would cost from $25,000 to $50,000 per mile, money which could be better spent in other ways."

Years ago shaded roads were good in days of horse travel, but I am assured by our engineers that shaded roads are to-day a detriment and a source of danger.

Mr. Caverhill believed that trees soaring to heights of 300 feet were not to be classed as highway beauties, preferring maple and other varieties, such as border the Malahat section of the Island Highway.

CUT WHERE ACCESSIBLE

Timber which is accessible and of great commercial value should be cut, he said, and the land should be suited to agriculture, sold and better adapted to forest growth allowed to reseed. Such a programme would give British Columbia maximum forest production and provide adequate scenic attractions," he concluded.

F. D. Mulholland of the Forestry Survey Division, told of classification problems and the beauties of the alpine park areas in British Columbia.

Alfred Carmichael suggested that seedling to grass of burnt over areas would be practical, forestalling threats of firewood. Mr. Caverhill said the practice was being followed, otherwise the fire danger would be increased. In any event bracken would invade areas seeded to grass.

He agreed with Mr. Carmichael that preservation of narrow roadside strips of timber along Cameron Lake Road would be impracticable, much down timber being visible in the area already.

The tract had been valued at $800,000, the fine trees which had been the subject of admiration being poor timber. While these fine trees should have been cut 200 years ago they would stand another century or more, but would not be as resistant to insect pests or wind as are younger trees.

Lithuanian Cabinet Is Being Reorganized

Berlin, Sept. 20.—A Wolff Agency dispatch from Kovno last night said the entire Lithuanian Cabinet had resigned. It was stated President Semtonis would ask J. Tubelis, Minister of Finance, to reorganize the Cabinet and become Premier in succession to Prof. A. Waldemar.

OBITUARY

The funeral service over the remains of Mrs. Florence Halkett, who passed away at Nanaimo last Wednesday, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the St. Paul's Church. Rev. Arthur D. Owen will officiate and the remains will be laid to rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

MRS. PHILBRICK WINS CITY GOLF TITLE BY 2-1

Mrs. Philbrick of the Victoria Golf Club to-day captured the women's golf championship of Victoria when she defeated Marjorie Todd, fourteen-year-old clubmate, by 2 and 1, in a thrilling eighteen-hole final at the Oak Bay course.

Miss Todd, who played brilliant golf during the tournament, made a game effort to down her more experienced rival, and after being 4 down at the thirteenth, won two of the next three holes, making Mrs. Philbrick dormie 2 at the sixteenth. The match ended on the seventeenth when Mrs. Philbrick gained a half.

WOMEN'S ORDER TAG TO-MORROW

King's Daughters Appeal For Funds to Help Sick and Needy

The King's Daughters will hold a tag day to-morrow in aid of their relief work, which lies largely among women and children who are sick and needy. The order is an international one and was founded in January, 1896, with branches in every country in the world.

In Victoria there are 117 members, a great many of them being associate members, so that the work is done by the willing minority. The funds are raised by means of teas, sales of work, or occasional card parties, catering at the fall fair, and an annual tag day. The Daughters help the various local charities by annual donations. The King's Daughters is a religious order, its motto being "Lend a Hand in His Name."

MOTORISTS PAY $60 FOR HOSE

A fire hose, laid down at the corner of Cook Street and Dallas Road, the other night proved a source of revenue which it suffered the wheels of nine automobiles to drive over it. Fines totaling $60 were collected in City Police Court this morning from drivers of the cars which went across the hose.

Those fined were Bernard Cicci, Frank Gold, Edith Campbell, Bradley Wicket, James Chadwick and E. J. Gage. Each paid $10.

A like charge against Henry Bosson was dismissed, while T. Rhodes Jr. and Miss Jean McAuley were remanded until Monday.

DAHLIA SHOW PRIZES GIVEN

Presentation of prizes to successful exhibitors at the Victoria Dahlia Society's Show at the Armories was made last night by F. W. Hobbs, president of the society.

The Cup for the largest dahlia in the show was donated by Major F. Niven. For the most points in the amateur section a large brass jardiniere was presented by the Victoria Silver Plating Works. In amateur competition, five glass vases by David Spencer Limited, two silver and bronze medals by the American and Ontario Dahlia Societies, for the best nine dahlia blooms or one California Dahlia, a silver medal by the California Dahlia Society.

EMPRESS SUITES HAVE COMPLETE REFRIGERATION

Complete refrigeration systems have been installed in the special suites located in the main tower of the new wing of the Empress Hotel.

All the refrigeration equipment was installed by the Canadian General Electric Company.

Under this system the special suites, where meals will be served to guests in private, are equipped with the most modern refrigeration facilities.

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 20.—Ada MacKenzie, of Toronto, successfully defended her Canadian ladies' closed golf title to-day when she defeated Mrs. G. Bennett, Toronto, in the final.

B.C. SENDS FIR TO CHURCHILL

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—A movement of British Columbia fir to be started very soon for Churchill, something like half a million feet is to be taken in over the Hudson Bay Railway to be used for framework and other purposes in the harbor works there.

A previous shipment from British Columbia went by ship through the Panama Canal and Hudson Strait to Churchill.

CARIBOO ROAD NOT DANGEROUS, SAY LOCAL MEN

Tribute Paid to Builders of B.C. Highway By Speakers Here

Alderman W. T. Straith and Frank Waring Tell of Trips This Summer

Automobile journeys over British Columbia highways to Banff and the prairies formed topics of two addresses at a joint luncheon of the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce and the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau directors to-day.

Frank Waring and Alderman W. T. Straith, both of whom made the trip this summer, were the speakers and kept their audience extremely interested during their half-hour talks.

At the outset of his talk, Mr. Waring paid tribute to the builders of the Cariboo Highway, the construction of it reflecting great credit upon the engineers in charge.

NOT DANGEROUS

"Before I started I was given the impression that the road was dangerous and rough. Such is not the case," he declared emphatically.

Mr. Waring told of his progress after leaving Victoria, thence by ferry to Bellingham, up to the Canadian border and through Hope to Emery Creek, a former gold-mining town, now desolate.

Yale, Spuzzum, across the Alexander toll bridge, the party proceeded. The highway in this area, while hilly and containing numerous turns, was nevertheless safe at all times. Stone fences protect the motorist at dangerous turns.

Through Spencer's Bridge, over a gravel road to Merritt, the route lay and thence up the Nicola River to Kamloops. The flat nature of this area was used for cattle-raising, he said.

Taking the Okanagan route to Banff, Mr. Waring next went to Kelowna, Penticton, and across the Canadian border at Orville, Wash.

ROADS DUSTY

Although wider and in a little better shape than those in British Columbia, Washington roads were nevertheless very dusty, he said.

Over a very dusty cattle trail, through a country inhabited by jack rabbits and rattlesnakes, they took a short-cut to Coeur d'Alene, afterwards wishing they had not.

After leaving Spokane, they entered Idaho, where the roads were very poor, said Mr. Waring. Canada was re-entered at Kinsgate and thence up to Cranbrook and to Banff.

WONDERFUL SCENERY

The wonderful Banff-Windermere highway with its gorgeous scenery, was the finest part of the trip, said Mr. Waring. Lakes, islands, mountains and forests combine into one glorious mass of nature's charm.

In conclusion Mr. Waring put forth the suggestion that something should be done to improve British Columbia roads.

"Whereas we realize the tourist business is a great asset to this country, it is not therefore necessary that we should supply whopper roads which will impress the visitors to the Province," he said.

FINE VIEW OF FRASER

Alderman Straith corroborated the statements of Mr. Waring regarding the safety of the Cariboo Highway and the beautiful scenery along it. He spoke of the fine view of the lordly Fraser River from the summit of Jackass Mountain. Thousands of feet below, it looked like a winding ribbon, brown and placid, although it was as turbulent there as in other parts of its course.

In this connection, Mr. Straith paid tribute to the pioneers, Simon Fraser, who, he said, must have been a man with a heroic heart to tackle such a perilous voyage.

THRILLING BACKGROUND

The thought of these old pioneers, of the former mining operations and other historical incidents formed a thrilling background to the Fraser River trip, he added.

The fruit country in the Penticton area left a lasting impression on him.

Mr. Straith continued to Banff by the all-Canadian route, his car traveling forty-five miles by ferry.

CALGARY STAMPEDE

At Calgary, said Mr. Straith, the stampede was the chief attraction. The whole programme was given over to cowboys and Indians and indeed formed a thrilling sight for one who had not known the old Indian days of the prairies.

Something like 45,000 people attended the stampede, he said, the peculiar point being that practically all of these were visitors to Calgary. One local people being more or less tired of the affair.

Roads in Alberta were splendid, being well-graded and well-surfaced but in Saskatchewan they were not so good. Lightening Jones declared the Saskatchewan highway was almost a cow trail in parts.

Cody, Montana, named in honor of the famous "Buffalo Bill" proved a rather ramshackle place with one of beauty spots, its main hotel.

BREATH OF PACIFIC

After traveling over dusty roads in the interior and through high mountains and trees in the Rockies, one certainly appreciated a beautiful wash of fresh Pacific air on return, said Mr. Straith in conclusion.

"I had only been away eight weeks and I experienced a great thrill when I again smelt the Pacific. Surely those who have never seen it would appreciate it even more. We have committed ourselves to building the West Coast Road and after having that experience I feel we should press strongly for its completion," he concluded.

Arthur J. Tingley of the Commercial Intelligence Service of the Department of Trade and Commerce was a guest at the meeting.

A. H. Cowlishaw, the new manager and concessionaire of the Crystal Gardens, was welcomed to the group by Dan Campbell, acting chairman.

The Tragedy of Palestine

BY HENRY W. NEVINSON
Manchester Guardian

The terrible trouble in Palestine arises from the clash of two races differing in religion, economics and civilization. I have sometimes compared it to the clash between a camel and a motor. The picturesque camel has been wandering on his quiet way unchanged for centuries, making his average five miles an hour and asking very little to eat or drink. The British mandate leaves him a nice soft border along the roads; but here down the centre rushes the motor at eight times the pace, and the camel doesn't like it, nor does his driver.

The Jews had established a few prosperous colonies in Palestine forty years ago, and the Zionist movement itself is no new. But the numbers of the Jewish settlers have rapidly increased since the Balfour Declaration of 1917, promising our Government's favor to the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people. Since then the number of Jews has risen to nearly 80,000 against about 800,000 Arabs. The majority of the immigrants may have come from scenes of age-long persecution, and the families may have been poverty-stricken, but still they stand above the ordinary Arab in what we mean by civilization. They are better educated, they enjoy more social freedom, the women do not go veiled like the Arab women, and they all have more advanced ideas of industry and a prosperous life. They may not be so picturesque, perhaps they are not so easy for the British mandatories to manage, but there they are, like the motor, and the Arab, like the camel, may have to keep to his own special path.

The Jews have now nearly 180 settlements, of which the Zionist organizations have supplied nearly fifty. One of these organizations (Keren Kayemet) purchases land freehold for Zionists, never to be resold. The land is bought in the open market, chiefly from wealthy Arabs or Syrian Moslems, and there is always more land for sale than the Zionists can afford. The other organization (Keren Hayesod) arranges for suitable immigrants, fits them out, and sets them up on the land so purchased. A distinction between these Zionist colonies and the older settlements, which were established chiefly by the generosity of Baron Edmond de Rothschild, is that the Zionists may not hire Arab or other labor, but must work the land themselves, and one of the miracles of our times is that some 24,000 young men and women, all Jews, were tilling the ground with energy and success when I was in Palestine a short time ago.

THE SITUATION OF THE PIONEERS
The work of the Zionist pioneers has been remarkable. With true heroism, these "Halutzim," as they are called, have drained poisonous and malarial marshes, especially in the Valley of Emek (Jezreel), and around the mouth of the Kishon, near Haifa, where the chief port of the Eastern Mediterranean may soon be constructed. At much sacrifice of health and life they have laid out fields and planted the eucalyptus on the unwholesome ground. They have built their villages, nearly twenty of which are run on communal lines ("Kutvot"); and there they make the real national home of the Jewish race. Unhappily, these villages are widely scattered. Some are in the former marshes of the Emek, and such, for instance, is Beth Alpha, at the foot of the Gilboa Mountains, where Saul and Jonathan fell. But others are still more isolated, as Metulsh at the very apex of Palestine, and Safed (not Zionist), on a height of the mountains of Galilee. These are exposed to attack, and have before now had to fight for their own existence.

These villages seem to me more notable than the Jewish or Zionist town of which Tel-Aviv, the northern outgrowth from Jaffa, is the largest instance. That town is more like a modern South African or American city than anything eastern. But it is entirely Jewish, and Hebrew is the universal language. For by their law and liturgy the Jews of various nations have retained enough Hebrew to understand each other, and Hebrew is the language of the schools. I suppose about three-fifths of Haifa is Jewish also, and there is a large Jewish technical school there. Afula, the centre of stores and trade in the Jezreel valley, is entirely Jewish, and it is interesting to notice that the pretty colony on the hills just north of it is called Balfouria. For Lord Balfour is naturally a hero of the Zionist movement, and one finds his portrait in every house. It was he who opened the new Hebrew university, slowly building upon the height overlooking Jerusalem—the height upon which, Titus pitched his army for the destruction of the city.

So Zionism has prospered, but one must admit the expense. Hitherto the two Zionist organizations between them have been able to raise about £5,000,000 a year on an average, chiefly from the generosity of American and South African Jews. Whether that contribution can be continued one cannot tell, but what with the purchase of the land, the removal of the immigrants to their new homes, and their outfit and maintenance there till they are able to pay the small rent to quit the debt, I believe each family of colonists costs about £1,000 to settle. That seems a lot, but I am told it costs as much to settle a family in California or one of our Dominions.

TRANSJORDANIA
Let me turn to another point which has lately become prominent. Transjordan is a territory under British suzerainty and under the jurisdiction of the High Commissioner, is, nominally at least, governed by Amir Abdulla, brother of King Feisal of Bagdad, who has built himself a fine new palace overlooking Amman, the chief town of Transjordan and the nearest to the frontiers of Arabia proper. This proximity to Arabia has long seemed to me dangerous, especially in times of religious or racial excitement like the present. For just across the vague and arbitrary frontiers live the wandering hordes of Arabs, largely Wahabite, reputed more fanatical than most Moslems. It is better, as I have already said, to have which we hold the frontier, but everyone knows they are small, and they are Arab for the greater part, though under British officers. Aeroplanes could quickly be brought up from Egypt or diverted from the Bagdad postal route. But there, it seems to me, is the real danger point.

Hitherto Jews have not been permitted to settle in Transjordan, and we are now holding the Ailek Bridge over the Jordan to prevent the Arabs of Transjordan crossing to support their fellows in the attacks upon the Jews in Palestine.

Fortunately, we have good treaties with Ibn Saud, who stands nominally supreme over all Arabia but the extreme south, and I believe the last treaty was concluded with him by Sir Gilbert Clayton rather more than two years ago at Jeddah. But Ibn Saud may be far distant, and if the news from Palestine arouses the Wahabite to a fanatical zeal, careless of life, the position of Jews and Christians alike between the Jordan and the Mediterranean Sea might be more serious than one cares to imagine.

TO HOLD CONTEST ON POSTER WORK

Island Arts and Crafts Society Conducts Competition; Good Prizes

A poster competition, conducted in connection with the annual exhibition of the Island Arts and Crafts Society to be held in Belmont House from October 22 to 31, was announced yesterday.

The contest, open only to students and persons between the ages of fifteen and twenty-one years, has as its object the stimulating of greater interest in poster design.

Following are the rules for the competition:

The competition is open to persons residing in Victoria between the ages of fifteen and twenty-one years. The size of the poster to be not less than fourteen inches by twenty-two inches, and not larger than twenty-two inches by twenty-eight inches; to be executed on cardboard or mat board.

Three colors only are to be used. (The background not to be included as a color.)

Lettering on the poster: "Island Arts and Crafts Society, art exhibition, Belmont House, Victoria, October 22 to 31. Admission 25c." Three prizes will be given: First, set of drawing instruments, value $10; second, poster colors and brushes to the value of $7.50; third, lettering pens, brushes, ink, etc., to the value of $5.

All posters must be original and must be submitted not later than Thursday, October 17, to the secretary, 301 Union Building, 612 View Street. Full name, age and address placed in a sealed envelope, should be attached to each poster submitted. Posters will be called for after the exhibition is over, to be called for at the above address, excepting the prize posters, which will become the property of the Arts and Crafts Society. Copies of rules can be obtained from J. S. McMillan, 201 Union Building, 612 View Street.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, Sept. 20.—Wheat: Market active heavy with prices from 1 to 1 1/2 lower most of the day. Demand was very ordinary and confined to local buying. On occasions the May future sank to 155, but on resting orders a lot of wheat was wanted at that price. The general news was somewhat bearish, with rains reported in both Argentina and Australia.

The cash market was dull with shipper and miller not anxious for anything. Offerings continued light, and everything is strongly held at spreads 1/4 to 1 cent better than bid prices. There was not much interest in the durum and spreads were unchanged. Shippers were taking the small offerings. The general news was somewhat bearish, with rains reported in both Argentina and Australia.

The weather continues clear in Western Canada and the shipping market well completed this week. The farmers continue to market wheat freely, the deliveries on Thursday being 5,271,000 bushels, the largest this season.

Private cables from England state they consider Canadian wheat prices too high and for that reason imports are only buying sufficient quantities for mixing purposes. Whether this can continue much longer remains to be seen, but stocks are piling up in this country as well as in the United States and the outlet is extremely small. North American shipments this week being placed at under four million by Bradstreet. Winnipeg closed 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 lower.

Coarse grains: Outside of some business in oats to Eastern Canada, the coarse grains continue dull, with no feature to the trade passing. There is no particular pressure, offerings being light. Oats closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower, barley 1/4 to 1/2 off, and rye 1/4 to 1 cent lower.

Flax: An easier tone to-day with lower prices in Buenos Ayres and more favorable conditions in that country following the rain. No feature to the local market, trade being small.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

New York, Sept. 20.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says today:

NO CHANGE

"Yesterday's market produced little other than a rallying tendency in a new group of issues while it was letting down those which rallied in the previous two or three sessions and with the practical inability of anything more than a minor percentage of the market's total issues able to sustain their moves for more than one session and part of the next.

"I do not see any change in the type of market we have witnessed all week, which is a creating more and more confusion; in the meantime, all that can be said about the general market is that eighty per cent of the list has already made its high points and that the other twenty per cent is in a position to continue to advance. This percentage representing what can go up normally in any period of distribution until such time as the extent of that distribution makes even their advances impossible.

"Insofar as the balance of the week is concerned, I anticipate that with an unchanged discount rate and a reasonable loan increase that the market will continue the same type of selective irregularity over the week-end, but do not see any group that can be treated as a unit nor any reason to change the idea that trading except on a very cautious basis, is absolutely necessary.

"If you are fortunate enough to pick your commitments in the twenty per cent of the list which is headed higher temporarily, profits will be large for the risk assumed, but on the whole the thought to keep in mind is that this market is essentially dangerous, and that the only procedure is to keep 'close to the shore' and sufficiently restrict your scope of operations to prevent being hurt if anything happens.

COMMENT

"Consolidated Gas got under way as expected and think it is headed much higher. Public Service of New Jersey has corrected its technical position and these two issues I believe are the best two left in the utilities.

"As evidence of the confusion in the present market I find the best type of buying in Republic Steel and Iron and steel which in other words, the same incidentally applying to the utilities where the substantial character of buying in Consolidated Gas and Public Service of New Jersey is offset by the best type of selling in International Telephone and Telegraph.

"The oils are not acting contrary to expectations, but are simply refusing to advance until a more substantial market background is provided. The best type of bank buying from every part of the world is going on in Royal Dutch.

"The rails should soon begin to reflect the August earnings, which will show their two issues I believe are the best two left in the utilities. Practically every sound rail stock is ridiculously underpriced by all known value standards applying to the industrial list.

"Elsewhere would continue to buy United Fruit, Pullman, U.S. Realty, the two coal stocks, and the two rubbers pointed out yesterday, but carefully avoid the motors outside of General Motors and have nothing at all to do with the aircraft stocks until an adjustment has been witnessed in that group."

BIG HOTEL CHAIN FORMED BY MERGER

New York, Sept. 20.—United International Hotels Inc., has been formed with Dillon, Read and Co., as bankers to acquire twelve leading hotels in the United States and Canada, forming the largest hotel chain in existence. The company, which will have management contracts with and options to buy substantial stock interest of ten other huge hotels, has acquired the Roosevelt Hotel in New York City, the Robert Treat in Newark, N.J., the Niagara and the Clifton at Niagara Falls, the Seneca in Rochester and the Onondaga in Syracuse.

"With regard to stabilization of gasoline prices, Standard Oil announces today an advance of two cents a gallon in the posted tank wagon price to become effective September 23. At the same time it announces that a discount of two cents a gallon from the new posted tank wagon price will be granted to dealers. In other words, the retail price at company service stations will be unchanged. It was explained that the change resulted from the necessity of meeting competition by adjusting discounts now granted various classes of buyers, based on posted wagon prices."

WALL STREET MIRROR ADVICE

New York, Sept. 20.—The Wall Street Mirror to-day issued the following market advice to its clients: "Good buying is going on in the railroad shares. A definite stand regarding rail investment trusts and rail mergers is expected from the Interstate Commerce Commission in the near future. This is expected to pave the way for a bit of rail advice. The high grade rails are in a buying zone. "The very best sort of buying is making its appearance in International Nickel. This issue was called to your attention earlier in the week when it was selling at 53. At that time it was said Nickel would double in price. Much of the recent buying at advance prices has had its origin in Washington. Stay long of Nickel. "Among the high priced issues which are extremely well liked in high quarters are Air Reduction, Columbia Gas, U.S. Industrial Alcohol and Commercial Solvents. The new Commercial Solvents on a when issued basis is extremely well bought. "Safeway Stores continues to make new friends. This is one of the issues which the Wall Street Mirror records as an excellent purchase at any price. Safeway is headed for much higher prices, but it should be played for the long pull. "International American will continue to discount its enormous profits in certain of its investments, particularly its bank stock holdings."

STEEL, RADIO LEAD BREAK AS HEAVY SELLING HITS N. Y. MARKET

(By B.C. Bond)

New York, Sept. 20.—Large offerings of stocks to-day were reported from abroad, said to be due to the suspension of a number of issues listed in London.

It was also reported that certain representatives planned to renew agitation against Wall Street in the coming session of Congress.

New York, Sept. 20.—H. P. Bliss, commenting on to-day's market break and the heavy offering of stocks, said:

"The selling this morning converged on Radio, Steel and Standard of New Jersey and floor people tell me that J. J. Mehan has been conspicuous on the buying side of all three recently.

"Our people do not think the selling was anything more than a drive and perhaps something of a conflict between opposing forces of operators. In other words, it had nothing particular to do with general factors like money conditions or business outlook."

New York, Sept. 20.—Heavy selling continued to pour into the market today, converging on U.S. Steel common and Radio as traders became susceptible to scares.

The result was that the whole market became more or less unsettled and displayed feeble rallying power, although just before the close selling subsided somewhat.

At the close the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 362.65, off 7.82 points for the day, and for twenty falls at 172.36, off 7.71 points.

In spite of the general slump, however, there were a few stocks that showed buoyancy. Columbia Gas rose from 120 to a new high at 129.4, Republic Iron and Steel rose from 129.4 to a new high at 146.1, Air Reduction, Industrial Alcohol, American Linseed, American and Foreign Waterworks, Burroughs and Woolworth also made new highs.

U.S. Steel common broke from 243.4 to 234.4.

Call money held at eight per cent during the day.

Sales totaled 4,877,900 shares. Various reports were circulated in connection with the decline. Bearish traders argued that the motor shares were destined for irregularity and lack of organized support until the 1930 outlook could be ascertained. The manner in which Steel common sold off served to augment uneasiness, and probably impelled many traders to sell out their long lines.

"SATAA" TEA

'Fresh from the gardens'

The Innocent Cheat
By Ruth Dewey Groves
AUTHOR OF "RICH GIRL—POOR GIRL," ETC.

It had a depressing effect upon her and when they again entered Mr. Cunningham's room she experienced a sense of futility. Whatever these two men decided for her would be her fate. She knew it, because she knew she had not the will to stand against Brent. She could not force herself upon him. For in spite of what he had said about his own secret dreams there was this part that she could not weigh. This would keep her from trying to settle the issue herself.

So she said nothing beyond a polite greeting to Mr. Greaves when he was introduced to her.

The lawyer's keen eyes swept her face in one searching glance and he satisfied himself in an instant that whatever she might be she was no common crook.

Of Brent he formed a similar opinion. The man aroused an interest in him. For Brent was as poised and unemotional as the sphinx.

He answered the questions put to him calmly and unhesitatingly. Mr. Greaves was puzzled and at the end of the interview, when Brent and Helen had gone downstairs to wait in the library, he told Mr. Cunningham that he could not give an opinion on the matter, except to advise a thorough investigation of Brent's story.

Mr. Cunningham nodded in agreement. He had already decided that such an investigation should be made. "Attend to it at once," he ordered, rather peremptorily.

"And in the meantime," Mr. Greaves said, "we must keep these two under observation."

"Quite right, quite right," Mr. Cunningham rapped out impatiently. "Ask Miss . . . er . . . Brent, to remain here. Either she really does not care to do so, or she is a consummate actress."

"You mean remain as a member of your household?" the lawyer questioned.

"Yes, we will keep her here on probation."

"Not a bad idea," the lawyer returned. "If she will agree to it."

A few minutes later, when he repeated Mr. Cunningham's request to Helen, he was prepared to have his doubt of her consent so emphatically realized.

She declined to accept Mr. Cunningham's proposal. Declined in the simple words of sincerity.

Brent came over and put an arm on her shoulders. "Helen dear," he said gently. "I'm afraid that you don't realize our position. I believe," he paused and looked at Mr. Greaves, "that we are under suspicion."

Mr. Greaves barely refrained from nodding assent.

"I should never forgive myself if I let you do anything rash—anything you might ever regret," Brent went on, smiling tenderly down at Helen.

"Oh, you wish me to stay?" she cried in dismay.

"Yes," he said. "I do. Because there must be an end to ruthlessness somewhere. It may be your duty to think of your grandfather. And I do not want you to make a hasty decision. I want you to be sure of what you do. It may be only for a short time. Their investigations may not satisfy them."

"I hope it doesn't," Helen declared, the tears of defeat springing to her eyes.

"H'm," Mr. Greaves said to himself. "H'm, h'm."

"Then you will stay—until you are sure of yourself?"

"I'll stay," Helen promised, "but as for being sure of myself, Leonard."

Why can't people ever believe that even kids have minds of their own?"

Brent smiled. "And turned to Mr. Greaves."

When Helen's answer was carried to Mr. Cunningham he did a strange thing. "Thank God," he said. "It had been a long time since those words had passed his lips."

Helen's first night under the roof that she believed had sheltered her mother was spent in tears. She felt like a prisoner and remembered that her mother had actually been imprisoned there. For a moment she hated her grandfather with a white-hot hatred. Then the memory of his goodness to her came to her mind afresh and she buried her face in her pillow, feeling like a traitor.

He kept her in rather constant attendance upon him at first, until he saw that she was looking pale and tired. He sought to draw her out one day about herself, but Helen evaded him.

She was grieving for Brent and the imminent death of her hopes. For she had no doubt that she was the Cunningham heiress and would eventually be accepted as such.

And while she waited her boats were sailing, distant places were calling. Leonard was alone in New York. They might have been together, dining, dancing, riding in Central Park, planning their future.

But of her disappointment she said no word to him when he came to Bramblewood.

Brent was far too astute to appear often, and he knew without speaking to her about it that Helen would not reveal her heart to her grandfather.

In Mr. Cunningham's presence he was discreet to the point of wounding Helen, who believed that he was being lenient to her. He was relieved of his responsibility toward her.

Mr. Cunningham set her quietest down to solitude and looked about for a way to make life more pleasant for her.

One day when she came to him, tremulous and on the verge of tears after an unsuccessful attempt to coax Brent to stay to dinner, he asked her if she was lonely.

"Isn't there someone you would like to invite here?" he said when she had looked away without answering his question. "Some of your school friends, perhaps?"

"No," Helen burst out. "No. But I don't see why I should stay here! You haven't accepted me as your granddaughter. Can't I go back to New York and wait?"

Her pleading, tearful wrung a pang of deep pity from the old man's heart. And a new feeling, too. He held out his arms to her and without pausing to consider the haven to which she fled Helen went to him.

"There, there," he soothed. "Wait until I tell you about the surprise I have for you."

CHAPTER XIV

Helen lifted her face from Mr. Cunningham's shoulder and he was happy to see that she was not so depressed that she had no curiosity.

"I'm sure you're going to like it," he went on, meaning the surprise he had spoken of.

"What is it?" Helen asked, dabbling a tear away from her lashes and giving him the softest smile he'd yet seen on his lovely young countenance.

"Wait and see," he told her. "And would you mind ringing for Marks?"

Helen was constrained to curb her curiosity and do as her grandfather asked. When the servant appeared the old man gave him a prearranged signal and dismissed him. Helen's curiosity grew apace, but Mr. Cunningham was not yet ready to satisfy it.

"Sit here," he said, patting the arm of his chair, "and cry if you want to." Helen shook her head. "Tears don't help," she told him.

"Then you're really unhappy?"

"Well, I . . . I was going to have such a wonderful time! I'd planned it for years. Traveling with Leonard. It got so dull at school sometimes. You see, I've never been outside—"

"Helen," Mr. Cunningham broke in. He bent his head in an attentive attitude and Helen followed suit. She heard a car in the driveway, a soft sound that barely came up through the open window.

"Go and see who it is," he told her and she flew swiftly to see if Leonard had returned.

Her disappointment was instant. This was a car she had never seen before.

"I don't know who it is," she turned back to her grandfather.

"H'm, what kind of car is it?"

"I don't know, but it's a beauty," Helen admitted.

"Well, well, I wonder why we haven't thought of having a car for you. You would like one, wouldn't you?"

"I'd love it," Helen exclaimed, thinking how fascinating it would be if she could drive about the country and break the monotony of living at Bramblewood.

In the garage at present there was nothing but a station car for the use of the servants. Helen understood that her grandfather had not used a car in years.

"Can you drive?" he asked her.

"Of course," Leonard taught me.

"But he didn't buy you a car, eh?"

"No, Miss Spang would not permit it."

Quite unaware, Helen had given a satisfactory answer, allaying a doubt about Brent—a doubt of his financial position. For the information that Mr. Greaves had thus far been able to obtain concerning him was meagre indeed.

They had learned only that he lived in an expensive hotel and appeared to be well supplied with funds. And the of a sudden the mole dug into a big hole which was really an old well. The well was lined with stones and Uncle Wiggily, leaning over to see if one of them might be his wishing stone, fell in as it told you last night.

"And now," said Uncle Wiggily to himself at the bottom of the well as the mole hurried away, "if I could only turn this hole upside down and fall out it would be very fine. But I shall have to wait until the mole comes back with a rope and somebody and pull me out."

Meanwhile the kind chap that he was, kept traveling along looking for some one to help Uncle Wiggily out of the hole. The mole felt the wind blowing on his soft fur.

"O Wind," he called. "Will you help Uncle Wiggily out of the well?"

"I'll do my best," promised the wind. So it began to blow down the hole, but it blew so much dust and dirt and stones and little stones down on Uncle Wiggily that the rabbit called up.

"Please stop blowing, Mr. Wind."

The wind stopped blowing and the mole, going on a little farther, felt the hot sun beating down on his soft fur.

"O Sun," he called. "Will you help Uncle Wiggily out of the well?"

"I'll do my best," promised the sun. And it beamed down hot and strong on the rabbit down in the well until Uncle Wiggily thought he would boil, bake and steam, so he begged of the sun to move on.

The sun did and the mole, hopping a little farther, felt the rain falling on his soft fur.

"O Rain," called the blind mole to the falling drops. "Will you please help Uncle Wiggily out of the well?"

"With pleasure," pattered the rain. Then it began to fall down the well, splashing on Uncle Wiggily's pink, twinkling nose until the rabbit called:

"Please stop, Mr. Rain. You are making me too wet and if you fill this well with water I'll drown!"

"Oh, excuse me!" whispered the rain, so it stopped falling, and then the mole felt that what she had to do. It ran around the edge of the well hole, feeling very sorry for Uncle Wiggily down on the bottom. And the rabbit gentleman, couldn't climb up because the stone sides of the well were so straight and smooth.

All of a sudden there was heard a rustling noise in the bushes near the well where Uncle Wiggily hoped to find his wishing stone.

"Who is coming, Mr. Mole?" called the rabbit.

"It smells like a bear," answered the mole, for, having no eyes, he had to go by smell, taste and feeling.

"Oh, if it's a bear," said Mr. Stubtail or Mr. Whitewash, said Uncle Wiggily. "They will help me out of the well."

The rustling in the bushes became louder and out burst a big brown bear. It was Mr. Stubtail, the father of Neddie and Beekie.

"Please help Uncle Wiggily out of the well," pleaded the mole.

"I shall be glad to," growled Mr. Stubtail, in his gruff, jolly voice. "Just a moment." He pulled off a long strand of grass vine for a rope, lowered it into the well and told Uncle Wiggily to take a stick and hold on. And when the rabbit gentleman had done so the bear pulled him out of the hole as nicely as a lollypop.

So once more the rabbit gentleman was safe, though he had not found his wishing stone. And if you see a lollypop without a stick and will lend it your pencil to make one, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and Old Foke.

BEDTIME STORY

How Uncle Wiggily Got Out

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate
(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

"Hello down there!" called the mole to Uncle Wiggily who was down in a hole. "Hello! Hello!"

"Hello up there!" answered the rabbit gentleman, looking up from where he had fallen to the bottom of the hole. "Put your paw down, my mole friend, and help me get out."

"I'm sorry but I can't do that," answered the little creature with no eyes, who was like a mouse. "But I'll go get some one to help you out of the hole. Did you fall far and are you hurt?"

"Well, I'm not hurt," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I think I have fallen into an old well, but there are a lot of dried leaves on the bottom and they made a sort of cushion."

"Oh, you have fallen into a well!" cried the mole. "You must be careful not to get drowned!"

"There is no water in this well, it is a dry one," said Uncle Wiggily, "and I am thankful for that, as we rabbits aren't very good at swimming. But please go get help for me."

"I'm going!" cried the mole and he stopped digging holes and hurried off on top of the ground, feeling and smelling as he went cleverly, for he had no eyes to see.

He told Uncle Wiggily to take a tight hold.

Uncle Wiggily and the mole had been adventuring together, looking for the rabbit's wishing stone. The mole offered to dig holes and turn up many stones, which he did. But all of a sudden the mole dug into a big hole which was really an old well. The well was lined with stones and Uncle Wiggily, leaning over to see if one of them might be his wishing stone, fell in as it told you last night.

story, "Pleasure Crazed," the all-talking Fox Movietone production which opened at the Dominion to-day provides plenty of entertainment for its audience.

Marguerite Churchill, Kenneth MacKenna and Dorothy Burgess, playing the leading roles, give notable performances, and an unusually good supporting cast includes Campbell Gullen and Henry Kolker. The film, cleverly directed by Donald Callahan, is one of the best modern dramas to reach the talking screen. Philip Klein had charge of the pictorial direction.

WALTER HAGEN PLAYS "HIMSELF" IN GOLF FILM

Written especially for Walter Hagen, the golf champion, by Wallya Tolman is the first of the six pictures which Hagen is to do for Tiffany-Stahl. "Green Grass Widows," the feature film now being shown at the Playhouse Theatre, presents the golf star in the role of himself.

Hagen is entered in the Westover tournament, which carries a prize of $5,000 for the winner. John Harrow plays the role of a college boy who has to finish his course "on his own," and is desperately anxious to win the prize in order to achieve that ambition and his even greater one of winning the girl he loves.

Coupled with the many thrilling moments on the golf course are hilarious scenes in the college frat house and on the campus.

The price of fuel and cutlery must be cheap in the mountains, according to Will Marshall, the intimidated "Crumpet" who plays in the "Maid of the Mountains," by the Reg. Hineks Company, also showing at the Playhouse. Mr. Marshall demonstrates why.

UNUSUAL PROBLEM CONFRONTS GIBSON IN "POINTS WEST"

With the girl he loves and the man he hates standing before a minister, about to be married, the girl against her will, Hoot Gibson faces a serious situation in "Points West," Universal's new western picture, now playing at the Columbia Theatre. The girl in the picture is Alberta Vaughn, and what Hoot does in his tense situation, is something pretty exciting.

GRIPPING STORY OF MYSTERY SHIPS 'COLISEUM PICTURE'

One of the greatest naval films ever produced, "Q Ships" is the feature screen attraction at the Coliseum Theatre all this week, where it has been well received by large audiences since Monday night when the premiere performance in Victoria was given.

Aside from an interesting plot, the picture well portrays the tactics of the mystery ships during the Great War. It shows the old merchant ships roving the seas as disguised British naval vessels, and their subsequent encounters with German submarines and battle cruisers. The greatest and most thrilling scene in the picture is where the entire German navy, from tiny submarines to giant dreadnoughts, line up for surrender to the British admiral, again proving Great Britain the mistress of the seas.

The Mildred Page Players have charge of the stage attraction this week and present a three-act drama entitled "The Boss of the Ranch." The locale is on a large western Arizona cattle ranch, and the settings and characters are typically western. Mexican cattle grazers, husky ranch foremen, and pretty western girls all have parts in this week's play.

MYSTERY, THRILLS AND SUSPENSE IN "DRAKE MURDER"

For gripping mystery, thrills, suspense and fascinating dialogue, "The Drake Case," which opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday is of the highest order. The picture, which is 100 per cent dialogue, was made by the Universal Film from the original story by Chas. A. Logue, and boasts stellar cast of players, including Gladys Brockwell, Forrest Stanley, Robert Fraser, Barbara Leonard and Tom Dugan.

Courtroom scenes in the film, with the fascinating talking sequences, are exceptionally gripping and realistic.

An all-talking comedy with the popular Louise Fazenda and Walter Hiers, and one of the Paramount screen songs entitled, "Mother Pin a Rose On Me," complete this fine bill of entertainment. "The Drake Case" will show at the Capitol Theatre to-day and to-morrow only.

"MYSTERY MAN" DIGSDOWN AGAIN

Pays $40 to Mrs. N. C. Erntson, 771 King's Road, Who Finds Him

Yesterday was a lucky day for Mrs. N. C. Erntson, 771 King's Road. She made up her mind that the individual walking ahead of her was Mr. Majestic, "The Mystery Man," and immediately she took a chance and spoke to him. Much to her delight he admitted his identity and at once accompanied her to the Kent Piano Company's store, Yates Street, where she received a present of $40 in cash.

It was Mrs. Erntson's little daughter who first told her about "The Majestic Mystery Man," who had money in his pocket to give away. As he had announced his intention of visiting the Capitol Theatre sometime yesterday afternoon or evening, Mrs. Erntson decided to keep a sharp lookout, and her patience was rewarded about 2:30 o'clock.

Meanwhile "The Majestic Mystery Man" was having troubles of his own. When he arrived in the vicinity of the theatre he found a dozen or more keeping their eyes open for "a man in gray." He did his reconnoitering from the windows of the Public Library and decided, as there were too many hunters around he would take a chance later on. He crossed Yates Street with this intention, but got no farther than the Cathedral on Blanshard Street when Mrs. Erntson caught up with him.

Strange to say, "Mr. Majestic" finished the afternoon by going to the Capitol Theatre, saw the entire show and came away without being recognized by any of the numerous hunters who were around.

covered and his identity becomes known, another is secured to take his place. The "Mr. Majestic" who is downtown this afternoon between 2 and 6 o'clock is of medium build and dressed in a dark suit. It will be a relief to the men who dress in gray to find that they will no longer be required to answer the question "Are you Mr. Majestic?" The search is now on for a gentleman in a dark suit. Those who expect to win the money prize he carries in his pocket must first visit either Sommer & Sons, 1012 Government Street, or Kent Piano Co., 641 Yates Street, the two Majestic dealers in Victoria, and secure a copy of the Majestic Radio folder "The Voice of the Air."
